House Appropriations Committee Sanctions Addition Of Many U. S. Agents

Prohibition Director Forced To Give Intimate Information To Committee

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Riding rough-shod over opposition in its ranks, the house appropriations committee today approved a 32 percent expansion of the federal dry enforcement regime by addition of 500 agents and 188 other employees.

The prohibition enforcement fund, embraced in the annual supply bill for the state, justice, commerce and labor departments, totalled $11,369,500 as compared to $9,000,000 last year.

Hearings made public in connection with the bill disclosed that both Attorney General Mitchell and Prohibition Director Woodcock were subjected to grillings by Rep. Tinkham (R) of Massachusetts and other wet committee members.

Woodcock was forced to disclose details of a $250,000 fund for purchase of liquor, food and similar expenses of dry agents seeking evidence, and $150,000, chiefly for informers or "stool pigeons."

The report and hearings showed: 1. Dry agents spent $31,940 from July 1 to October 31 in purchase of liquor to obtain evidence, or at a rate of about $120,000 a year. Woodcock said he hoped to discontinue this as agents became better trained.

Won't "Scuttle" Law.

2. During the same period, $36,036 was paid to special employees, popularly called "stool pigeons." Woodcock said he was willing to discontinue this, but the committee voted for continuance of the practice. The bill carried $2,000 for office supplies (Continued On Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

Ellwood City plans to go along with New Castle in observing Boy Scout "Anniversary Week" early in February. Down there, as well as here, the public offices will be assumed for an hour on February 12 by scouts duly elected to the positions. All in all, the celebration looms as a most significant one.

Seems that North Mill and Falls street is a place for many auto accidents, or near-accidents. Young Pa New saw a bad head-on crash there Saturday night, which might have resulted more seriously. Crossing Mill street is particularly dangerous when cars are parked along the street.

"Never saw snow come down like that. It came in torrents and stuck to the windshield of the machine. You had to travel mighty slow for awhile." That is how Harry Mack describes the snowstorm of late Sunday night. He was driving home from Butler when the snow began falling.

Supposed Kidnaping Is Childish Romance

(International News Service)
DENVER, Jan. 13.—A childish romance today threw Denver's exclusive social set into a furor and sent more than 100 detectives and policemen on a frenzied search for Alice Lucille Humphreys, beautiful 13-year-old daughter of I. B. Humphreys, millionaire oil man, who was believed to have been kidnapped from her palatial home during the night.

The child was found shortly after

8 o'clock asleep in an automobile in the home of Thomas Lawrence, whose son Jack, also 13, was the "boy friend" of Alice Lucille, she explained.

The Lawrence home is in Montclair, a Denver suburb, more than two miles from the Humphreys home.

Alice Lucille was only a little perturbed by her experience, and apparently suffered no ill effects from her night in the garage.

President Hoover Makes Urgent Appeal For Generous Response To Campaign

Plan To Raise $10,000,000 To Aid Suffering From Drought And Depression

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—President Hoover today issued a public proclamation requesting generous contributions to the $10,000,000 fund which the Red Cross is endeavoring to raise for the relief of suffering in the 21 states hard hit by the drought and other economic depressions.

The proclamation follows: "To My Fellow Countrymen: "There must be a very material increase in the resources of the American Red Cross to enable it to bear the burden which it has undertaken in the drought area and smaller communities—over 21 states during this winter. During the last 10 days the Red Cross has had to increase the rate of expenditures to an amount greater than during the entire previous four months."

"The American Red Cross is the nation's sole agency for relief in such a crisis; it is meeting the demand and must continue to do so during the remainder of the winter. "The disaster reserve of the Red Cross which was pledged to this emergency last August is not sufficient to meet the increased demand. It is imperative in the view of the experienced directors of the Red (Continued On Page Two)

New Cold Wave Strikes District

(International News Service)
With swiftly falling snowflakes as harbingers, a new cold wave expected to be of several days' duration, descended on the Western Pennsylvania district today.

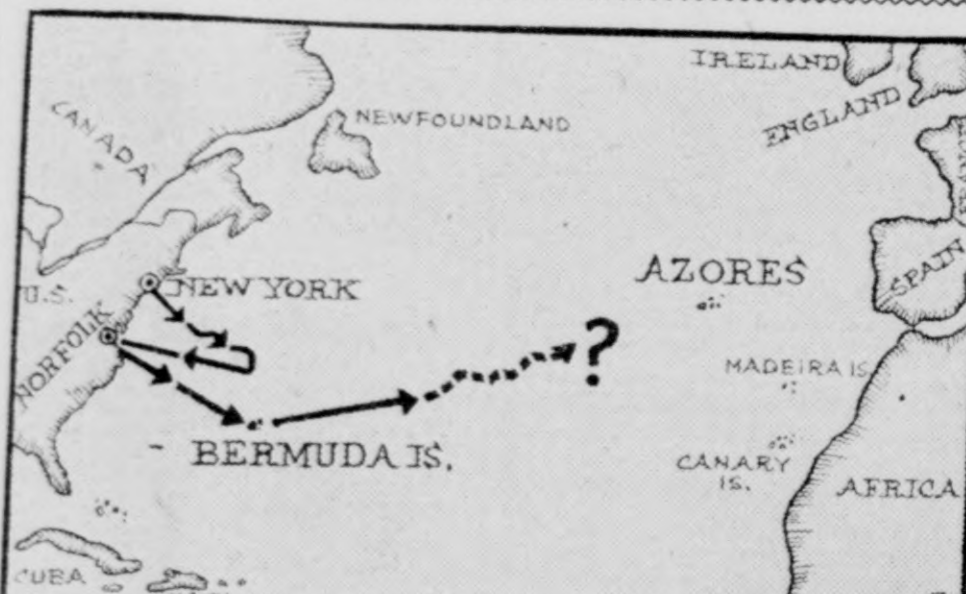

Heavier furies of snow were predicted tonight by officials at the United States Weather Bureau who said the mercury would drop to 15 degrees or less in the city while suburban areas were promised temperatures ranging from 10 degrees to perhaps zero.

The temperature continued its steady drop today after registering 26 degrees at 8 o'clock this morning. According to official observations, the sudden descent started after midnight last night when thermometers hovered around the 32-degree mark.

"It will be cold for several days to come," William Brotzman, official forecaster here, announced.

Rev. R. R. Brown, of Illinois, a former Beaver Falls preacher, who conducted services in Ellwood City on Sunday evening, has made over 400 airplane trips.

Coalition Will Oppose Brossard On Tariff Board

Armed Truce Between Hoover And Hostile Senate Exists On Capitol Hill

SENATE IGNORES POWER DEADLOCK

Four Members Of Federal Tariff Commission Have Been Confirmed By Senate

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—An armed truce between President Hoover and a hostile Senate existed on Capitol Hill today as a Democratic-insurgent coalition sought to defeat Edgar B. Brossard of Utah as a member of the new U. S. tariff commission.

Four members of the commission have been confirmed but are kept from office by the Senate's refusal to send notification of their confirmation until two executive sessions have elapsed.

Those confirmed were Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of Pennsylvania and John Lee Coulter of North Dakota, Republicans, and Thomas W. Page of Virginia and Alfred P. Dennis of Maryland, Democrats.

Brossard's nomination was fought, not because of any difference with Mr. Hoover, but due to the nominee's connection with the sugar tariff row of 1924. Insurgents and Democrats charged Brossard with being "evasive" before a Senate committee in 1926. He may be rejected, although the vote will be close.

Ignore Deadlock
The sixth member, Lincoln Dixon, Indiana Democrat, will be confirmed without much effort. The fight against Brossard alone assumed serious proportions, although there was some criticism of Fletcher, who has devoted most of his life to the diplomatic service.

In battling over the tariff commissioner the Senate virtually ignored the deadlock with Mr. Hoover. (Continued On Page Two)

CONFERENCE IS ASKED FOR BILL

Conflict Occurs Between City And Rural Representatives Over Loans

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Administration leaders of the House today attacked the Senate's $15,000,000 food amendment to the $45,000,000 seed and feed loan drought-relief bill as the entering wedge for adoption of the European government Dole system for the needy and unemployed.

Professing to see an issue far more important than the $15,000,000 involved, administration leaders demanded the drought-relief bill be sent to conference with the Senate without instructions.

Rep. Will R. Wood (R) of Indiana, chairman of the appropriations committee, prepared to lead the fight of administration forces in support of a special rule for a conference.

To Plant Crops
The House leaders plan, frankly announced, is to make an effort in the conference of Senate and House committees to eliminate the $15,000,000 amendment and immediately make available the $45,000,000 to enable farmers to plant crops in the drought areas.

Into this fight was drawn a conflict between representatives of city and rural areas, which was counted on by House leaders to aid them in their plan.

Funeral Services For Nathan Straus Being Held Today

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Funeral services for Nathan Straus, noted philanthropist, who died here Sunday at the age of 82, will be held today.

At the services in Temple Emanuel, no eulogy will be delivered, in accordance with Straus' wishes. Professor William Lyon Phelps of Yale, who was a close friend of the Jewish leader, will read a sketch of his life. The honorary pallbearers will include John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Arthur Brisbane, former Governor Alfred E. Smith, Julius Rosenberg, Adolph S. Ochs, Felix M. Warburg, Mayor James J. Walker, Benny Leonard and Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown of the University of New York.

Despite the large fortune he accumulated, Straus died as he had wished, comparatively a poor man according to his son, Nathan Straus Jr.

"The world will be surprised to find how little money my father left," said Nathan, Jr. "He gave much of his money away and he had been out of the business of making money for 20 years."

Negro Confesses Crime Before Dying—Names Another Man As Actual Slayer

(International News Service)
MARYVILLE, Mo., Jan. 13.—Sheriff Harve England today promised that he would go before a grand jury and name the leaders of an infuriated mob which chained Raymond Gunn, Negro, to the roof of a country school house here and burned him to death.

The mob seized Gunn from Sheriff England's automobile yesterday as he was transferring the negro from the county jail to the courthouse. Stoning and jeering the prisoner, the crowd marched him to the one-room frame schoolhouse where Velma Colter, 29-year-old school teacher was feloniously attacked and slain. The negro had previously confessed the crime.

Girl Student Is Severely Hurt In Fall From Train

Miss Wilhelmina Brown, West New Brighton, N. Y. In Semi-Conscious State

ESCAPED DEATH ONLY BY MIRACLE

Just How Girl Dropped From Train Is Unknown—Found By Freight Crew

(International News Service) BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 13.—Miss Wilhelmina Brown, of West New Brighton, N. Y., student at Connecticut College, lies in Bridgeport hospital today still in a semi-conscious condition, seven days after she fell from an east-bound New Haven railroad train in Stratford and was discovered hours later by the crew of a freight train.

Just how the girl dropped from the train has not been learned. A long investigation by railroad officials has disclosed no clue to the mystery, and officials of Connecticut College are reluctant about the case though they announced the girl had been subject to fainting spells.

Miraculous Escape
When the girl was found she had no shoes, but they are supposed to have been whirled from her feet in the fall, and may be lying in a swamp near the place she was found. The train from which she fell was slowing at the approach to the Housatonic river bridge, and its speed was not particularly great.

That the girl was not killed by the fall is considered remarkable. Equally strange is the way she managed to open the car door without being noticed, railroaders say.

Companions of the girl, riding with her, did not notice her absence when the train reached New London.

Identified By Hat
Inquiry there indicated that the girl's pocketbook was taken to the college and left there apparently unnoticed until news of the finding of a girl at Stratford reached the college. The fact that the hat Miss Brown wore bore the name of a New London firm led to the discovery she was a Connecticut College student.

Miss Brown's condition in the hospital has been recorded as "very poor" ever since she was first examined there. For hours her death seemed imminent but always she clung to life. Relatives have stayed with her continuously since they learned of her plight.

The New Era Coal company, a local firm of dealers in coal, wood and coke, entered into an oral agreement with an eastern coal company through its agent. The agreement provided that the eastern company should furnish coal for the New Era concern in carload lots and in such number of carloads as the New Era wished to purchase them. In the contract the terms of payment were specified. But after several loads had been shipped the eastern company suddenly refused to ship any more. The New Era people were mystified because of this sudden turn and so took recourse to court.

Increase Fund To Fight Crime

Bureau Of Prohibition Granted Big Increase In Appropriation Bill

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Increasing last year's appropriations more than $5,000,000, the House Appropriations committee today reported the annual supply bill for the justice, state, commerce and labor departments, carrying a total of $51,230,000 for next year.

The greatest increase was for the Bureau of Prohibition of the Justice department, the boost totalling $2,369,500.

Heavy increases were recommended for expansion of federal prison facilities and the federal courts, due to increasing criminal activities. The prison increase of $1,611,693 carried $287,000 to operate the new Pennsylvania penitentiary for a year, $500,000 for the southwestern reformatory to be located in Oklahoma, an increase of $371,220 in operation of federal jails and $837,640 for prison camps.

The fund for operation of Leavenworth prison was raised $296,783 and Atlanta prison $181,775.

Continue Case On Paving Cost

Trial On West Washington Street Paving Cost Comes To Abrupt End

Following a motion to amend the statement of claim of the City of New Castle against the New Castle Electric Company, in court this morning, the jury in the case was withdrawn and the case continued. The continuance came when the defense pleaded surprise and asked that they be given time to study the amended claim.

This finishes for the time, the case of the city against the traction company for its part of the paving costs on West Washington street. The city's position is that the traction company is liable for all the paving in the area occupied by the tracks of the company and argues that because the double track had been reduced to a single track, the company should pay for the paving where the one track had been removed.

Cite Old Ordinances

Monday afternoon was almost entirely spent in examination of City Clerk Cordelia Zeigler Jones and an inspection of old ordinances. With the continuance of the case it will now be over until the next term of court.

MISSOURI SHERIFF WILL NAME LEADERS OF LUNCHING PARTY

made to repeat his confession of the school teacher's murder.

In relating his confession Gunn said he was a party to the crime, but said a negro radio singer named "Shike" Smith, now believed to be in China, was the actual slayer of the girl school teacher.

That a grand jury investigation would result from the lynching was almost assured when Sheriff England said he was prepared to name the leaders. The officer said he recognized several among the mob who had promised him that the law would be allowed to run its course.

Guards Not Summoned

Officers of a National Guard detachment stationed here to prevent a lynching said the guardsmen were subject to the sheriff's call and offered them as an explanation for their failure to intervene in the lynching. They charged that the sheriff had not summoned them.

In describing his fight with the crowd to retain the negro prisoner Sheriff England said the mob converged on his automobile simultaneously, as though by a prearranged signal. The sheriff sustained a wrenched back the crowd tore the prisoner from the sheriff and started toward the school house.

Ten thousand persons gathered at the school house to watch the execution.

Waves To Crowd

The negro waved to the crowd as torches were applied to the pyre. Several previous attempts to lynch Gunn had been made, but the sheriff was successful in repulsing them. Soon after the negro's arrest a mob tried to storm the Nodaway county jail but was repulsed and Gunn was taken to the St. Joseph, Mo., jail. He was brought back for arraignment only after Sheriff England had obtained the promise that there would be no further violence.

MARYVILLE, Mo., Jan. 13.—The spirit of mob rule still held sway in Maryville today following the burning to death yesterday of Raymond Gunn, a negro, and confessed attacker and murderer of Miss Velma Colter, 21 year old school teacher.

Several hundred persons, gathered around the ruins of the Garrett school house scene of the murder and also the death of Gunn, openly stated that if any means of obtaining justice were possible, they would lynch.

A piano carried from the burning school house, which was Gunn's, was completely destroyed by curiosity seekers who carried away parts of it as mementoes of the occasion.

The chief obstacle to cooperation at Washington is that any mention of burying the hat-net causes the other fellows' neck to cringe.

STAR LORE

A WHIRLPOOL OF STARS
By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

There is a Spiral Nebula in the constellation Canes Venatici known as the Whirlpool Nebula, the photograph of which is spectacular. It was first detected in the spring of 1845 by Lord Rosse with his 60-inch reflecting telescope. He discovered stars in its spiral arms. This discovery of stars has been abundantly confirmed. The nebula strongly resembles a sketch of the nebula that roughly corresponds with the splendid photographs since taken by long time exposure. This nebula is an Island universe. There is evidence that its spirals are rotating. Rotation would throw the stars outward by centrifugal energy, but gravitation of the mass would hold them together.

The governor-elect, according to his secretary, had but one caller last night. That was S. A dozen cabinet and departmental posts still remain to be filled, and announcements of appointments by the governor-elect are expected to start tonight or tomorrow.

The governor-elect has yet to announce his choice for secretary of the commonwealth, superintendent of public instruction, adjutant general, insurance commissioner, commissioner of fisheries and the following departmental posts: agriculture, banking, forests and waters, mines, health, labor and industry, and superintendent of state police.

The incoming governor will remain here this week and next Saturday will be a guest with Gov. John S. Fisher at the executive mansion. It is expected the Pinchots will occupy the official residence after the dinner, as Gov. Fisher has indicated his willingness to give up the mansion and become the guest of friends here until after the inaugural ceremonies Jan. 20, when he will return home to Indiana.

WEST VIRGINIA GOVERNOR ASKED TO FREE PRISONER

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Schuller Funeral

Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran church, spoke most feelingly Monday afternoon when he conducted the funeral services of Mrs. Regina Leonhardt Schuller, at the family home, 1611 South Beaver street, on December 30, 1930, he had performed the same rite for her husband Frederick Schuller.

The home was filled with sympathetic friends and relatives and a mass of floral tributes attested to the esteem in which Mrs. Schuller had been held.

Interment was made in Graceland cemetery and George Weimer, Frank Reynolds, Grover Syling, M. J. Young, Joseph Geer and William Tyrrell most graciously placed her in her last resting place, the same as they had their co-worker, her husband, such a short time ago.

Thomas Charles Reed

Thomas Charles, the infant son of James and Ruth C. Young Reed, of 317½ Sycamore street, died at the family residence at 3:30 this morning following a brief illness.

He was born January 2, 1931.

He is survived by his parents, a brother, James, a sister Joyce and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Reed of Wampum and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young of Youngstown.

Mrs. Charles T. Phillips, wife of Charles T. Phillips, aged 26, of 938 Bonnie Brae, Youngstown, O., died Monday night, following an illness due to heart trouble. She had been in poor health for some time. Her death comes as a shock to her many friends. She was widely known and highly respected not only in New Wilmington, where she spent the greater part of her life but also in Youngstown, where she had resided for the past five years.

Mrs. Phillips was born in New Wilmington, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Eckels.

She was an active member of the South United Presbyterian church of Youngstown, of which the pastor is the Rev. James McDonald.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Eckels of New Wilmington and the following brothers and sisters, Harriet J. Eckels, Youngstown, O., Mrs. S. B. Wilson, Mrs. August Hoelder and Mrs. R. R. Cummings, all of this city, Don C. Eckels, South Pasadena, Cal., Joseph E. Eckels, Defiance, Pa., and Charles Herbert Eckels of New Wilmington.

Funeral services will be held from the family residence, 938 Bonnie Brae, Youngstown, O., at a time to be announced later. Interment will be made in Neshaunook cemetery, near New Wilmington.

Time of Funeral

Funeral services for Walter Kelley, who died in Pittsburgh Saturday, will be held from the Payne Funeral Home, at 2409 Wylie avenue, Pittsburgh, Wednesday at 2 p. m. Interment will be made in a Pittsburgh cemetery.

John Calvin Williams

John Calvin Williams, aged 78, of Emmer, died in the Jameson Memorial hospital, Monday, January 12, at 11:45 p. m. following an illness of several weeks from pneumonia.

Mr. Williams was born at Kellersburg, Armstrong county, November 19, 1852 and had been a resident of this city for fifty years. He was married to Ella Bush, who preceded him in death twelve years ago. He was a member of the Lutheran church.

Mr. Williams is survived by a daughter, Mrs. F. F. Urey, this city; two sons, D. C. Williams, Aliquippa, and E. M. Williams of Grove City, and three grandchildren, Lolita Williams of Pittsburgh, Ronald and Edith Williams of Grove City.

Mr. Williams had come to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Urey, 402 Laurel boulevard, to spend the holidays and was stricken with pneumonia, he was removed to the hospital where everything possible was done for his relief but the years had taken toll of his body and he had not the strength to combat the disease. He was a well known resident of Emmenton, having lived a retired life the past several years.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday, January 14, at 10 a. m. from the home of Dr. F. F. Urey, 402 Laurel boulevard with Rev. F. E. Stough officiating, after which the casket will move to Emmenton where further services will be held Thursday with interment in the Emmenton cemetery.

Mrs. Josephine Anderson

Mrs. Josephine Anderson, aged 69, widow of N. P. Anderson, of Bessemer, died at the family home Monday, January 12 at 1:15 p. m. following an illness of pneumonia.

Mrs. Anderson was born in Sweden but had been a resident of Bessemer many years. She was a member of the Zion Lutheran church of New Castle.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Anna L. Franklin of Warren, Ohio; seven sons, George of Warren, Ohio; Alexander and John of Bessemer; David of Ambridge; Warner and Luther of Bessemer and each of Warren and three sisters: Mrs. Edna C. Thompson of Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Axelina Benson and Mrs. Carolina Johnson of Sweden.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. from the family home in Bessemer with Rev. J. W. Eckman officiating. Interment will be made in Pittsburgh cemetery.

Charles Cartwright

Charles Cartwright, aged 86, died Monday, January 12 at 4:30 p. m. at the home of his son, George Cartwright, 1411 Gibson avenue, following a stroke, which he suffered three days ago.

He was born July 5, 1844, at Wolverly, Worcestershire, England and has been a resident of New Castle the past forty five years. He was a member of the Episcopal church.

He is survived by the following children: George, Charles F., Enos; Mrs. Joseph McCaffrey, all of this city; Mrs. John Dyson of Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. James B. Peters, Cambridge, Ohio and Gordon Cartwright of Cheltenham, Maryland.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. from the home of his son, Charles Cartwright, 1409 Gibson avenue with Rev. P. C. Pearson officiating. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

INCREASE FOR DRY FORCES IS GIVEN APPROVAL

for under-cover work when special offices are set up.

3. Attorney General Mitchell declined to express an opinion on the merits of prohibition but said he would enforce, not "scuttle," the law.

4. Mitchell said the government is confining itself to prosecuting commercial violators and Woodcock said the government will not disturb "private" violators.

5. Prosecution of persons for making home-brew is not impossible, but difficult, according to Woodcock.

6. Woodcock denied agents were "spring" on congress. Mitchell said the bureau was "trying to dry up" the national capital.

7. Justice department has not approved the grape juice sale plan of a California company represented by Mrs. Mabel Willard.

Tinkham Assails Fund

The appropriations committee's report was a most commendable statement of the necessity of funds. Rep. Tinkham filed a minority report assailing the entire fund and the bureau's policy.

Quoting Woodcock's testimony that prevention of home-brew is difficult, Tinkham said:

"It was also admitted to the committee that a private dwelling was immune from search even if it was known liquor was manufactured there, provided no sale was made from which admission it was concluded and is beyond contradiction every home in the United States is a potential and legally protected sanctuary, brewery or distillery."

Explaining the bureau's policy, Director Woodcock said:

"We are directing our forces against commercial violations against the traffic in intoxicating liquors. We are not making any effort to apprehend private violators of the law. There are so many constitutional difficulties, the task would be an impossible one to apprehend private violators. But we think we can stop the open traffic in intoxicating liquor by developing the force we have, and the force we expect to get, into thorough and efficient and loyal investigators, and with such aid we can get from the state and local authorities."

Mitchell emphasized that the states must bear the responsibility of stopping minor violations.

Not Dictated To
Woodcock aroused Tinkham's ire in hearings by approving the tapping of telephone and telegraph wires to obtain evidence.

Denying he was dictated to by the Anti-Saloon league or other dry organizations, Woodcock said:

"I have not had any subject with any of those bodies or anyone representing those bodies."

Woodcock defended the prohibition agents, but admitted 17 were dismissed from July 1 to November 30, 1930, for various causes including intoxication, collision with violators, attempted extortion and annoying and insulting women employed in the office.

BEAMISH GETS CABINET POST

Negro, Back Of Jail Bars, Probably Wishes He Hadn't Tried To Make Get-A-Way

Only to sit idly by and wait for the March term of criminal court—that's all Albert Hall, negro, who resided at 116 West Long avenue, has to do. Hall's in the county jail charged with malicious mischief and surety of the peace—and also with an attempted escape.

But if Hall had only his way, and if Rolla B. Morrow fourth ward constable had allowed him to, he wouldn't have been back of the bars today. Constable Morrow re-caught Hall when he attempted to escape last Saturday afternoon.

Everything was going peaceful. Hall had been summoned and hurriedly appeared. Alderman Mantz heard the case, then held him over for the March session of court. It was while Morrow was en route to the county jail

PASSION PLAY ACCOUNT FEATURE OF MEETING

Mrs. W. E. McKee of 208 North Crawford avenue had as guests in her home Monday afternoon, associates of the Current Events of '06, twenty-six in number, including Miss Margaret Burton of Ellwood City and Mrs. E. M. McMillin who were special visitors.

A business session was called, when Mrs. C. G. Martin read a report on the purchase of flowers for the County Home, and Mrs. P. C. Depp and Mrs. J. L. McConahy were appointed on the International Relations committee.

Mrs. J. R. Lutton had a feature of the afternoon, reading two papers. One was on the "Slack Water Navigation Improvement of Local Rivers," and the other on the "Pymatuning Dam Project" which were most interesting. A discussion period followed, and many favorable comments were made regarding the articles. Also another feature that was highly entertaining was the account of the Passion Play at Oberammergau, Bavaria, Germany given by Miss Burton.

In two weeks the ladies will be guests at the home of Mrs. W. R. McKnight who resides at 906 Adams street.

ART CLUB MEMBERS WILL MEET THURSDAY

An interesting meeting is anticipated for the Art Club members on Thursday afternoon when they gathered at the home of Mrs. C. Ed. Smith, Sr., on Highland avenue at 2:30 o'clock.

Roll call will be responded to with "A Cathedral and its type of Architecture" and the subject will be "The Cathedral of St. John, The Divine."

Margaret Shields Class.

An interesting meeting of the Margaret Shields class of the First Methodist church took place in the home of Miss Dolores Gould on Elizabeth street, Monday evening.

The meeting was called to order by Miss Dorothy Boyles, the class president, and matters of a routine nature were given attention and the secretary and treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Ben Prosser.

Later, games of a wide variety were played and a lunch served. The hostess was assisted with the dainty menu by the Misses Nell Gould and aKthryn Hodie. Pastel tones were attractively carried out in the appointments.

Monday, February 2, Miss Mabel Campbell of Moody avenue will receive the class at her home for their next regular session.

Bon Accord Club.

The Bon Accord club held a bingo and 500 party at the home of Miss Frances Corio of 213 East Friendship street, recently. Scores were won by Annette Farrare and Rose Corio. Miss Corio was also the winner of the special prize of the evening.

Later, lunch was served by the Misses Frances Corio and Ann Guido. In two weeks they will meet at the institute on Pennsylvania avenue with Mrs. Alice Pascoe acting as hostess.

CHOIR SHOWERS FELLOW MEMBER

Honoring Mrs. Russell Vaughn, a member of the Trinity church choir, and a bride of recent date, her choir associates and the choir mothers gathered at the Trinity Episcopal church on Monday evening and tendered Mrs. Vaughn a shower.

Dinner was served to a gathering of about 30 guests at 6:30. Rev. and Mrs. P. C. Pearson and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brownie Patterson were special guests.

Pink color tones were used decoratively on the tables, with flowers and tapers. The event proved most enjoyable.

Mrs. E. H. Pearsall, assisted by Mrs. Les Rice and Mrs. G. Robertson, were in charge of the arrangements.

ENTERTAINED MONDAY

Mrs. W. A. McNauley of 228 Euclid avenue was a pleasing hostess Monday evening when she entertained the Daughters of the King of Trinity Episcopal church at their usual social event.

Sixteen ladies were present. Games of an amusing nature, and music helped to fill in the hours. Mrs. Uletta Diefenderfer won the prize offered for the guessing contest. At a late hour, the hostess served a tasty lunch, having as her aide her niece, Miss Martha Allen.

On February 9 the Daughter will have their regular meeting, the hostess to be announced later.

STROUSS-HIRSBERG EMPLOYEES AT PARTY

The mezzanine floor of the Strauss store presented a festive appearance Monday evening as the employees of the store gathered for an informal party.

Bridge, 500 and miniature golf proved pleasant diversions, with prizes in these games going to Jane Fulton, Helen Wharton, Ora Muse, Kate Stanley, Steve Stanislaw, Mayme Fulkerson, Lucy Holliday and Edith Stanley.

To bring the evening to a most appropriate close the committee who had so graciously arranged the party served a delicious lunch at the small tables.

CURRENT EVENTS CLASS
MEMBERS MEET MONDAY

Members of the Current Events Class were received Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Alice Richardson on Highland avenue for their regular session. Miss Molly Davis and Mrs. Will Dunn acted as critics for the afternoon.

The meeting which was well attended, was called to order and business of interest was taken up. The committee for the Colonial Tea which will be held on February 23, was appointed.

Special guests of this occasion were the Misses Nettie and Lulu Richardson, sisters of the hostess.

In two weeks they will hold another regular meeting with Mrs. Albert Street on Moody avenue. The activities will begin promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

WEDDING MONDAY

A pretty wedding was solemnized Monday at 1 o'clock when Miss Jessie Wilson, a nurse of this city and Charles Rock, of Girard, Ohio were united in marriage at the parsonage of the Rev. Thomas Francis, of the Euclid avenue Methodist church.

Miss Wilson is the daughter of William Wilson of Mt. Jackson and is well known in this vicinity.

They were attended by the bride's cousin, Mrs. Viola Roeder and uncle D. K. Hover, both of this city.

Dispensing with a honeymoon trip the couple will be at the home on Wilmington avenue to their friends.

ROBERT WHALEY WEDS IN FLORIDA SATURDAY

Word has been received of the marriage of Miss Pauline L. Byer, daughter of Mrs. H. J. Byer, of Franklin, Pa., and St. Petersburg, Florida, to Robert J. Whaley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Whaley of New Castle. The ceremony was performed on Saturday, January 10 at the parsonage of the Methodist Episcopal church at St. Petersburg, with the Rev. Schuyler E. Garth being the officiant.

The bride was lovely in a blue ensemble with accessories to match, and wore a corsage of roses and valley-lilies.

Mrs. Whaley was an instructress of physical education in the public schools of Franklin. Mr. Whaley is well known in this vicinity, and has for some time been affiliated with the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

Following an extended wedding trip to Cuba, the young couple will be at home to their friends in Franklin.

RACHEL REBEKAHS
OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Monday evening marked a special date in the history of the Rachel Rebekah lodge 40 inasmuch as it was the celebration of the birthdate anniversary of Thomas Widley, the founder of Odd Fellowship and it was fittingly observed in the local lodge.

Mrs. Alice Thompson, noble grand, was in charge of the opening business session after which the program was presented with Mrs. Florence Gillespie reading the proclamation. Theda Nixon gave a piano number, followed by a reading by Marion Shaffer, solos were sung by Mrs. Martha Shaw and Mrs. Frances Barnes, as well as a duet by them, after which the speaker, C. Herman Hess was introduced and gave the address of the evening, lauding Thomas Widley, his work in the founding of Odd Fellowship and its kindred organizations.

Plans were made for a card party for the lodge members and their friends, which will be held Monday, January 26.

Dorcas In Meeting

The Dorcas Circle membership of the First U. P. church was delightfully entertained last night when the regular monthly program and business meeting of the organization took place in the home of the Misses Helen and Harriet Ewing, Highland avenue.

The devotionals, led by Miss Harriet Ewing, were followed by a speaking program during which Miss Lucille Wimer, Mrs. James Crawford and Miss Ruth Jamison spoke. Their talks were most interesting.

Delightful refreshments were served later in the evening by the hostesses, with Miss Helen McConaghy assisting.

St. Vitus Card Party

Monday evening, in the halls of St. Vitus church, a large crowd of members and friends gathered for their card party entertainment. At the close of the game, success awards were presented to Eleanor Rhorer, Louise DeCabo, Torrence Sacco and Amelio Strizza.

Lunch was served at a late hour by the general committee, closing an evening of real pleasure. January 29 marks the date of their next event, and the same committee will be in charge.

MRS. MAX LUDWIG HOSTESS AT BRIDGE

A charming event of Monday was the informal luncheon bridge in the home of Mrs. Max Ludwig, Highland avenue, when she entertained in honor of Mrs. J. S. Richards, Mrs. Dally and Mrs. C. W. Van Nort, who, with their families are moving from the city, the Richards and Dally's will make their future home in Elmira, N. Y., and the Van Nort in Pittsburgh.

Orchid and green were cleverly carried out in the table decorations; the centerpiece being formed of a green bowl filled with orchid sweet peas, tall orchid candles in green holders, were tied with maline bows in a soft shade of green. Each place was daintily marked with small green and orchid sachets and the place cards marked for each guest and was then used during the afternoon hours for keeping the bridge score.

Three tables of bridge featured the afternoon hours and at conclusion of play prizes for high scores were awarded Mrs. F. E. Patterson and Mrs. W. A. Glasser.

In saying farewell to the departing women the guests showered them with dainty handkerchiefs as a remembrance of the many good times they had spent together.

STAG PARTY AT FIELD
CLUB MONDAY SUCCESS

Monday evening, the New Castle Field Club house was the scene of a jovial gathering, when the men members met for another of their stag parties. A good number were in attendance to take part in the evening's program, and the hosts were James B. Matthews and C. A. Burckart.

At the close of the entertainment Max Ludwig was awarded the trophy for having the lowest score in the golf game, and Albert B. Street was the recipient of the favor for winning honors in bridge. The serving of an appetizing lunch brought the occasion to a close.

In two weeks there will be another of the series given, and the hosts for this date, will be Dr. J. G. McConahy and George S. Long.

J. G. CLEMENTS' CLASS WILL PRESENT PLAY

Under the auspices of the J. G. Clements' class of the Epworth Methodist church the playlet, "The Pine Hill Ladies' Aid Society" will be given in the church auditorium this evening by a group of members of the Reformed Presbyterian church.

The curtain is scheduled to rise at 8 o'clock and a riot of laughter will reign until the curtain drops on the last scene.

Birthday Party

A number of relatives gathered surprise fashion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kildoo on Court street Saturday evening, in honor of the latter's birthday.

The social hours were spent in playing games, and music also aided in the entertainment. At a selected hour, a tempting lunch was served by several ladies in attendance.

During the evening the guest of honor was presented with a collection of many handsome gifts as a memento of the day.

Those participating included the following:

Mr. and Mrs. William Hogue and children Agnes, Mildred, William and Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kildoo and sons Robert and Junior and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walters and children Theda, George and Donald, Mr. and Mrs. William Waters and daughter Donna Evelyn, Mrs. Helen Leathers and daughter Jacqueline.

DINNER AT FIELD CLUB HOUSE FRIDAY

The monthly dinner, bingo and white elephant party scheduled to take place on January 15, at the New Castle Field Club will be an event of Friday evening January 16 instead. A change was necessary on the Field Club social calendar and this entertainment which was arranged for the pleasure of its members, will take place a day later.

Section B Meeting

Section B of the Y. L. B. class of the Third United Presbyterian church held their regular meeting Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Glenn Orr on Hillcrest avenue. At 8 o'clock, devotional notes were read by Mrs. Alice Wilson followed by a brief business session.

A social hour was enjoyed with singing and chat, and a very delicious lunch served by the hostess. She was assisted by Mrs. Anna Orr who was a special guest and Miss Mildred Crane. Covers were arranged for 18 guests.

F. O. Luncheon Postponement

The F. O. Luncheon Club members scheduled to meet with Mrs. Bertha Sargeant on Garfield avenue this week, has been postponed indefinitely.

HARASSING THE PRESIDENT

NO president in many long years has been so continually harassed by a group of political target seekers as President Herbert Hoover. This coterie of insurgents and Democrats can foresee evil in everything suggested by the president, and immediately sets forth to create a new political issue.

President Hoover has been hampered continuously by this same gang of obstructionists in the senate, and at the present time this group is waging a warfare in an effort to stall off legislation until such a time that they believe it will be necessary to call a special session of congress to take up matters after March 4.

Certain it is that the people of America are fed up on the tactics of Wheeler, Norris, et al., and if for no other reason than that they are not giving the president a "fair break," sentiment is rapidly crystallizing behind the chief executive in his endless battle with this obstructionist gang in the senate.

No special session of congress is desired. None is needed. The session now in progress has a responsibility of doing something more than playing politics and holding up necessary legislation.

WHEN EASY MONEY GOES EASILY

From Chicago comes the story that Francis X. Bushman, who was listed as a matinee idol twenty years ago, is now doing "small time" with a minor stock company in that city. The story of what happened in the interval may carry a moral with it to those who are disposed to find sermons in the happenings of every-day life.

The young man got into the movies, became a favorite star and, we are told, made from $6,000,000 to $9,000,000. No one can verify these figures. Even if they be greatly exaggerated the fact remains that he made and spent a fortune in a few years.

How many persons who become rich overnight are able to keep their heads and their common sense? Mighty few. And it is a bit worse with members of the theatrical profession, who live an artificial life in a make-believe world. If they have any sense they lay something aside for the inevitable rainy day; but if they have not they live on a scale that would make the old Roman Emperors green with envy. It is the old story of easy come, easy go. And really it has become common enough to pass with very little notice.

CO-OPERATION

Modern civilization knows of only one game which all may play and in which all players are winners. That game is co-operation. In an era when the many are working for self, the exceptional who works for others may seem to be depriving self. But nobody is deprived who works for others.

The stage driver who declined to exhibit his skill with the whip on a roadside hornet's nest knew the power of co-operation. Co-operation among the allies under Foch stemmed the advance of the German hordes. Hornets work together. So do bees. A bee hive is a wonderful testimonial to what working together—each for all and all for each—can accomplish. Ants are also co-operators and every ant-hill testifies to the result-giving powers of co-operation. A wise man was once asked which is the most important—Labor, Capital or Management. He answered with a twinkle: "Which is the most important leg of a three-legged stool?"

Co-operation is the key word in business. It is the one direct road to prosperity, both for individuals and large groups. If a man is to be a leader, he first learns how to be a good co-operator—a worker with others; not a worker against nor for, but WITH.

NO INCREASE IN POSTAL RATES

Representative Kelly, the ranking Republican on the postoffice committee, has informed the house that the proposed increase in first-class letter postage will not be adopted. This probably gives the finishing touch to the proposal for the two-and-a-half-cent rate suggested by the postmaster general. Mr. Kelly declared that as a service-giving institution the "postoffice is today the most efficient organization on earth. The postoffice has been built on the basis of low rates and large volume."

This is a rather sweeping assertion, but it will be accepted because every letter writer in the land will be glad to continue to send first-class mail at the old two-cent rate. Some means will have to be taken to reduce the rapidly growing deficit of the department. The public, however, has become so accustomed to the low rates that some other way out of the difficulty will have to be found.

Disarmament is like a social function. Everybody wants to be the last to arrive.

After a moment's hesitation, the man thus accosted was about to step into the cab when he noticed that the horse looked as if it was about to fold itself up and bid this sad world "goodbye." "Is the horse sick?" anxiously asked the prospective passenger, fearful of a catastrophe before his very eyes. "No sir," replied the bubbling nosed cabman, "not sick—just er—just unlucky." "Unlucky?" queried the man, "how is that?" "Well, y'see sir," explained the cabman mournfully, as he tilted his gray stovepipe hat over toward his right ear, "every night when we gets home, sir, I toss with the nag whether he gets a feed or me a drink, an' would y' believe it, sir, the poor beast ain't won a toss in three days!"

AN OLD FOSSIL

There's a rock in my back yard—and it looks just like any old rock that you see in the hills.

You wouldn't look at it twice unless you knew what I know about it. What's a rock, anyway? Just a hard piece of something that has lasted a long time and will last a long time still, unless it's broken up and crushed to dust before the winds and the rains have their way with it.

But this rock is different. If you turn it over and over in your hands you will see what I mean. You will find a delicate tracery on one side of it. Look closely and you'll discover that the tracery is shaped like fern leaves in a lovely gray against the browns and yellows and reds of the stone itself. They are fern leaves. Or they were fern leaves once, long and long ago.

Hundreds of thousands of years ago a fern lay against a rock and something happened. Sudden heat, terrific pressure, enormous cold, something or other (my geology is nearly an extinct memory) happened and the fern was impressed forever on the stone, far more imperishably than those ferns and flowers small children flatten and dry between the pages of a heavy book. And there they make their pattern still, on that most common-looking rock in my back yard.

They are united so closely—that delicate fern from the distant past—with that solid stone of 1930—and no power on this earth could remove the pattern from the substance. That's beauty in my garden, more lasting than the flowers that come up from seed each year, more lasting even than the perennials that endure through the winter and revive in the spring.

That old fossil is more than a rock. It's a sort of symbol to me of human life. The characteristics they carry with them out of the dim hard past to this present that is all around us. This human race of ours wears a pattern on its breast, too. It carries Fear of Death, Love of Life, Hope of Happiness, a Dream of Beauty with it always. Back there in the darkness, in ten million lives, in sudden agony or in instant joy, something happened and we have not been able to forget it. It has been impressed upon our mirror and the pattern is in us and will be in our children and in our children's children.

And sometimes, looking at that stony old rock, I have thought of a few people I have known, who were called Old Fossils—but who were not old fossils at all and who carried within themselves or on their surfaces barely to be seen, the gentleness and a tenderness and a sweetness almost beyond belief. They'd understand my old rock, you may be sure of that.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

SOME ADVERTISING

Judge Ben Lindsey, of whom everyone was weary and who was well on the way to be forgotten has been dragged back into the best-seller class by Bishop Manning of New York. The distinguished ex-judge is no doubt grateful that the manna has fallen.

Since the world began there has been no other person who cashed in so successfully on the comparatively tame job of requesting bad boys and girls to please be virtuous as Judge Lindsey.

Most of the other Juvenile Court judges have rendered just as valuable service, but they didn't know how to holler.

Bishop Manning evidently had not heard that the best way to advertise that which he considers evil was by a public attack.

The most startling example of this sort of advertising occurred in San Diego several years ago when horse racing was instituted at Tia Juana, Mexico. Fifty Ministers of the Gospel simultaneously preached sermons on the same subject: "The Road to Hell." Judging by the response, the sermon was a good thing.

Joffre Still Hero Of Marne As Death Ends Controversy

Famous Marshal Of World War Receives Tributes From American Admirers Who See In Final Struggle The Same Qualities Shown In Battle

Americans who share in the sorrow of the world at the passing of Marshal Joseph Joffre find him as the hero of the Battle of the Marne, despite the controversy over the saving of France in the World War. They see in the French warrior the qualities that were needed to turn the tide of battle, just as in his last days he met the final struggle.

"As the man of the hour in an emergency he looms as a tower of strength," declares the ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS, with the tribute: "The Rock of the Marne has crumbled. With the same tenacity that featured his defense at the Marne and Verdun, Marshal Joffre fought death. The spirit was as strong, but physical infirmities were the handicap that told the story of final defeat." The NORTH ADAMS TRANSCRIBER says: "If the legend which grew up about Marshal Joffre in the early days of the war was ever dimmed, it was made vivid again in the last days of his own life, when he fought the encroachments of disease and the onward march of death with the same unyielding stubbornness that saved Paris in 1914."

He knew what to do and how to do it, and as a result his name is entitled to a place among the immortals," avers the SHREVEPORT JOURNAL, while the KANSAS CITY STAR, observing that "he gave inspiration to his own volatile people to hold firm in the crisis," concludes that it was this quality that gave him a Jovian aspect at a time of gloom and fear. The SEATTLE DAILY TIMES views the victory on the Marne as "one of the decisive battles of history," and testifies that "America holds Marshal Joffre in affectionate memory." The GENEVA DAILY TIMES feels that "people of the opposing nations likewise recognized his abilities and patriotism, and join in regret over his death."

"France may have Foch for her great commander, but Joffre remains her World War hero," according to the LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL, while the ALTOONA MIRROR maintains that his fame is secure, and that "his name will always be honored, his deeds perpetuated by the historic muse." The DETROIT NEWS states that "his time will rest on the great events in which he had a part and not on the part he had in them," but the SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS asserts that he "will live in history as a great commander whose only ambition was service to his country."

"For ten years after the war," says the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION, "the controversy over who won the battle of the Marne raged in Paris. And Joffre's name was taken by some to be a tacit admission that General Gallieni was the hero Joffre's only reply was that he had answered the 'damnable charges' in his 'Memoirs' which would be published after his death. Whatever his 'Memoirs' reveal, however, the glory that has been Joffre's remains his in death."

The simplicity, the personal charm of manner, that is always a conspicuous trait of greatness, is pointed out by the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL, "was notable in Joffre. This was outstanding in his visit to the United States. On May 9, 1920, New York gave Joffre such a welcome as had greeted no other man on Manhattan Island. Like demonstrations greeted him throughout his tour of the United States, where he was universally loved."

the hero of the first Marne who met the Germans in their first crush and drove them back 30 miles with troops that for a time were on the point of reeling and falling back."

"Perhaps the best beloved of Allied generals in the World War" is the tribute of the HAVERHILL GAZETTE, while the OSHKOSH DAILY NORTHWESTERN holds that nothing can dim the glory of his achievement, and the HAMILTON (OHIO) EVENING JOURNAL believes that "he will ever be regarded as one of the greatest of military leaders." The HAMILTON (ONTARIO) SPECTATOR says: "Nothing succeeds like success, and the world, in paying grateful tribute to the deceased Marshal looks back to those anxious days, when the brilliant strategy of the commander turned a retreat into an attack, and reversed the tide of fortune."

"What estimate history may place upon Joffre's military talents," remarks the NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE, "none can as yet predict, but we do not believe it ever will be possible for time to take from him that intense admiration won for him when, in her greatest moment of peril, France experienced what was perhaps the most sensational rescue in military annals."

The NEW CASTLE NEWS states that "if the victory at the Marne was a 'miracle' the miracle worker was Marshal Joffre."

Vocational Department Presents Program At Mt. Jackson High School

The vocational department of North Beaver township high school presented an interesting and in-structive program on Monday evening in the high school auditorium.

The sophomore girls under the direction of Miss Hillier, the home economics instructor, gave a one act playlet, "The Revolt of the Dresses", the purpose of which was to emphasize good taste and suitability in school clothes. The freshmen girls exhibited the aprons made in clothing class.

In a two act play the sophomore boys dramatized the value of each of the four fertilizing elements, calcium, nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium and their effect upon crop production.

Frederick Acker, Charles Grieder and Clarence Lipp gave the demonstration on saw filing which they will give next Tuesday before the vocational school group at the Farm Products Show in Harrisburg.

Music was furnished by the high school orchestra and Chester Kyle sang a solo which was well received by the audience.

Most of the boys of the sophomore class are planning to attend the Farm Products Show in Harrisburg next week.

The proceeds of the evening's entertainment will be used toward paying the expenses of the boys on the trip. The boys also appreciate a gift of ten collars given by West-field Grange for their expense fund.

In an article to appear in Forum
February issue, I say in part:

"Ask the man of the street what a child psychologist is and he will tell you that a child psychologist is an expert who believes in letting children do as they please. Such is the false conception created, it seems, in the public mind by a certain small group of writers who are not themselves psychologists.

"The difference between a child's destruction of the neighbor's flowers or shrubs at four, and his holding up a gas station at the age of twenty, is only a matter of degree. While Mr. Wickensham is looking for some basic causes of increasing crime let him observe the lessening of reasonable restraints of little children in the horrors of the intelligentsia.

"God pity the child who before the age of three had not learned the meaning of 'no.' His life will not be safe; he will be dangerous to property and the rights of others will be jeopardized by him. He will have spent 3 years of elementary training in the alphabet of crime. Furthermore, he won't be happy; nor will those who care for him. They will have to exercise an undue amount of effort to protect him, and to protect other things and persons from his destruction and annoyance."

Each month I write an article for the High School Pupils. "Problems With Teachers" is discussed in the current issue. To quote a few paragraphs:

"We rarely are aware that our pupils have a great array of problems with their teachers. All one needs to do to arrive at this conclusion is to sit and listen to a group of high school youngsters in a bus or trolley car."

"What are the things they talk about? Not about the scholarship, not techniques of teaching, not about the items on which the supervisor, principal or department head grades the teacher and recommends her for reappointment and increase of salary. As adolescents see them such matters are of relatively small importance. Specific human frailties of the teacher are the topics of their conversation, or their ridicule and other absent treatment of the teacher.

In Class Play

GERALD ALLEN

Gerald Allen is to have the role of Mark Winslow in the senior class play, "The Youngest". His chief stage business is to make life miserable for his younger brother. As the cheerful and harmless villain of the family group, his redeeming quality is humor. He will make the audience uproariously aware of the eccentricities of the youth whose fortunes make an evening's entertainment.

ings, her lack of humility and of a learning attitude. Her favoritism and unfairness, her futile efforts at detective work, and her ease with which she is herself deceived, her lack of human understanding, human sympathy, human interest, her seeming pleasures at assigning what seems unnecessary and irregular tasks, her attempts to lord it over them, to make them feel inferior, to ridicule them and humiliate them before their comrades, her inconsideration of their feelings of the little matters which mean all the world to them and intolerance and contempt for those who to her pupils are most near and dear.

"Nevertheless he is not always a destructive critic; he sometimes speaks approvingly. When one teacher is held up to scorn by several of his crowd he occasionally reminds them of another teacher who does not have 'such faults'."

DANDRUFF Soon Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

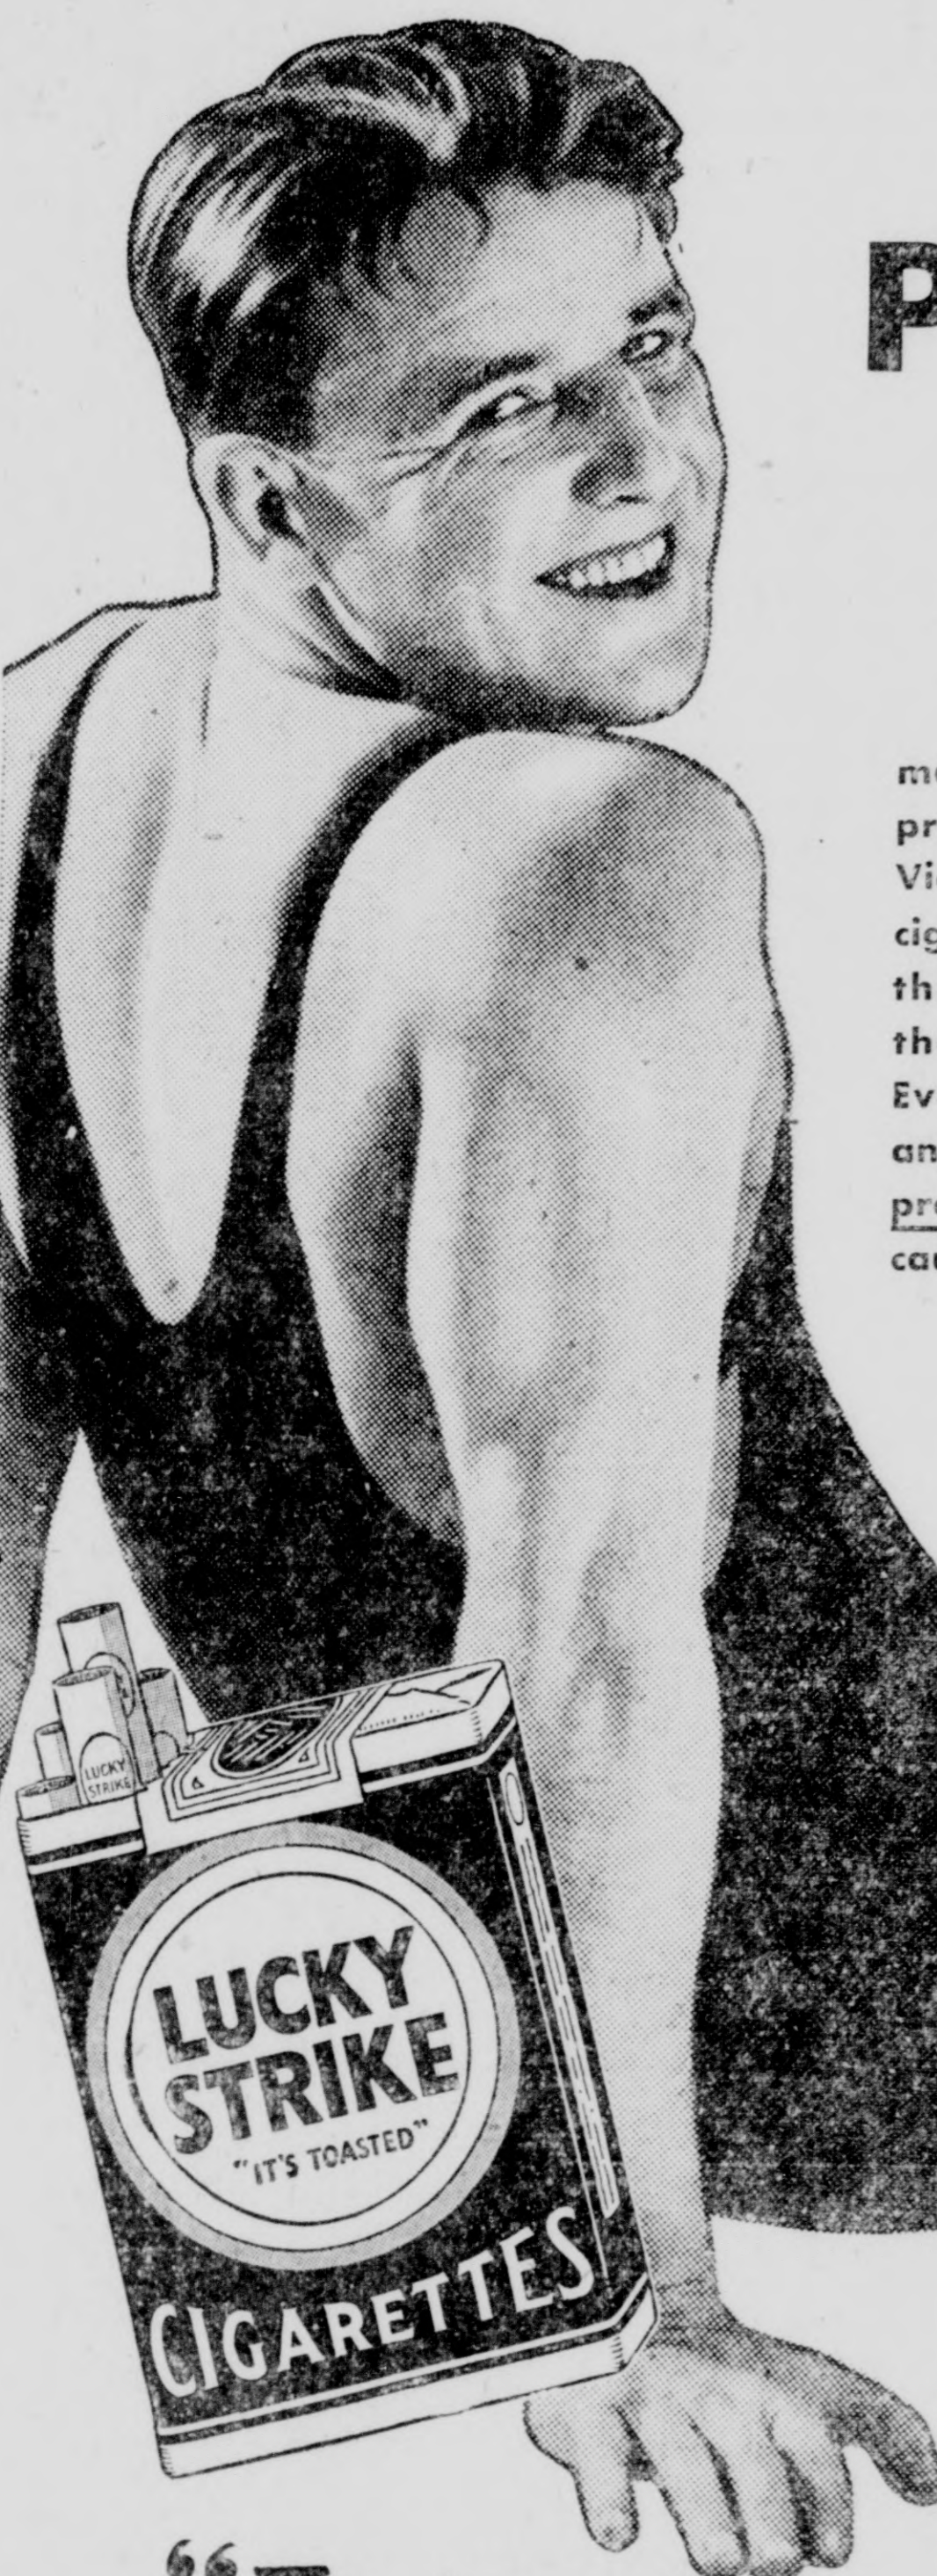

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Council Continues Tax Assessment Revision In Ward

More Figures Are Set By Council Acting As Revision Board

Council convened again as a board of revision yesterday. They worked several hours considering second ward assessments, regardless of whether or not appeals had been lodged with the board. While some assessments were increased and others decreased there were no glaring big changes. They worked for equalization. One of their actions was to place valuation of lots on the south side of Park avenue, west of Emerson avenue, at $12.50 per foot front owing to the fact they are "short lots."

Among the actions taken Monday follow:

Thomas Cubbison, Grant; lot 689, now $800.

Anna Cukerbaum, Laurel blvd.; was $640, now $1,000; 325 foot front.

Anna Cukerbaum, S. Mill; lot 129,160, now $15,000; building $17,920, now $15,670.

YOU want to feel absolutely sure of your sanitary protection. Sure that it will free you of all embarrassment. Sure that its comfort will last. Kotex gives you just that sense of security.

It is amazingly absorbent — and the way it absorbs makes for greater comfort. The long, delicate fibres of which it is made draw the moisture quickly away from the surface, leaving your protection dainty and comfortable for hours. Kotex stays soft during its entire use.

It deodorizes. It is shaped to fit. It is adjustable — and can be worn on either side with equal safety. And, of course, it is disposable. If you want lasting comfort in sanitary protection, specify Kotex.

THE EXTRA LOAD ON YOUR TAX BILL

Besides paying regular taxes in common with other industries, Stock Fire Insurance companies pay about 30 million dollars a year in special taxes in the various states.

These taxes are in reality borne by insurance buyers. They necessarily must be figured in the cost of insurance.

The original purpose of taxes on premiums was to maintain state supervision over the insurance companies. But such supervision requires only a few cents of each dollar paid in. The balance goes into the general state funds.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States does not think this is right, and has so stated:

"... Special state taxes now levied on policyholders through insurance companies should not be considered as a source of general revenue, but should be reduced to the total in each state which will adequately support such state's departmental supervision..."

Improvement In Conditions

Mayor's Relief Committee
Hears More Optimistic
Report Monday

PUSH PLANS FOR BENEFIT BOUT

Orville Potter, chairman of the executive division of the mayor's relief committee, last night shed a ray of sunlight when he told committee members that calls for relief have decreased slightly and other committee members reported that employment conditions here have shown improvement.

Potter's interesting statement came after he was asked by a member of the committee if calls for aid had increased or decreased. Another member of the body, which consists of 22 men representing all walks of life, then asked concerning employment, and the reply was decidedly encouraging.

According to Potter the committee is continuing to furnish baskets for the needy and told the mayor and his co-workers of having had many stoves delivered. Relative to duplication Mayor Gillespie said: "We will all make mistakes, but I would prefer a little duplication rather than see anyone forgotten."

Reports concerning the boxing benefit to help swell the mayor's relief committee fund were received. Ivor Richards reported on the sale of tickets, and Ed. Fritz, matchmaker, said all the bouts had been arranged, the bowl painted and three new furnaces installed.

According to indications the bowl will be crowded, if not actually sold out, as the committee members have been disposing of tickets declared that the interest was great. Beginning this week the bout between Willie Davies and Phil Tobias will receive extra impetus from the committee.

The receipts to come from the promotion will be welcomed, as the balance of the committee fund shows receipts of only $664.76. This total was reached by a contribution of $187 from National Radiator Company employees from their wages and $25 from the New Castle section, Council of Jewish Women.

Arrangements for the Theater Guild's presentation of "Is Zat So?" are making progress. Rehearsals are under way and the play is one which will please the theater-going public. The cast will be composed of local celebrities and will be staged January 21.

Ivor Davis reported that progress toward establishing a clearing house has been made and it will probably result in the clearing center being established this week. The Carnegie Steel Company, through Superintendent Tully, has offered the committee space for the bureau in the auditorium.

New Castle Clee Club offered its services to the committee. Terry Carson also offered the services of a string quartet and Speer Marousis discussed another "food show" in February, when Tom Sawyer may be presented at the Penn and children will give some sort of food for admission.

The committee will not meet next Monday night, owing to the boxing bout.

CLUBS TO MEET

The 30 some student clubs of the Benjamin Franklin junior high school will meet during the club period at the school on Wednesday afternoon.

Under reduced plane fares it now costs $21.60 to fly to Reno, and the court will probably order a refund in fixing the alimony. The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Raskob Resents Idea That He Is Democratic "Czar"

Wealthy Democrat Expects To Be Repaid $225,000 He Loaned To His Party

PLANS MADE FOR MONEY RAISING

Militant Chairman Of Democratic Party Answers Baltimore Columnist

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The Democratic party may owe John J. Raskob some $225,000 personally and $400,000 more to a bank in which he is heavily interested, but he nevertheless resents the idea that he "owns" the party or that he has any mortgage on its future, either as to candidates or policies.

The militant chairman made this clear today in an open letter to Frank R. Kent, political columnist of the Baltimore Sun, who recently wrote an article asserting that Raskob, through financing the party, had taken over its assets and liabilities, and in effect "owned" it.

Money Raising Difficult.
Nothing could be further from the truth, Raskob declared in his reply. Not only does he expect to be repaid the $225,000 he personally has advanced to the organization, and the bank to be repaid the $400,000 advanced on notes, but he also expects to raise the money necessary to keep the party machinery running in high gear until 1932.

"Plans are under way for a nationwide fund-raising campaign to meet our debts and provide money for the great work the national organization is now doing," he said.

"As a result of the party's defeat in 1928 and the severe financial depression of the past 15 months it has been difficult to raise money to carry on our work. My faith and confidence in the fundamental liberal principles of the Democratic party gave me great sense of security in the party's virility and the repayment of necessary loans.

Faith Justified.
"The recent 1930 elections fully justify my faith and the party is now bigger, stronger and better organized nationally than before."

If other Democrats are worrying about the party's financial outlook—undoubtedly are—Raskob made it as some of them, mostly southern, clear he is not.

The Democrats closed the 1928 campaign with a deficit of well over a million dollars. In the heat and bitterness that was the aftermath of that campaign, dry southern Democrats demanded that Raskob pay off the bills and "get out." He did not do so. On the contrary, he stuck to his post, managed to pay off some of the bills, largely through personal contributions, and organized and financed a militant national headquarters in Washington which for two years has poured weekly broadsides into the Hoover administration.

Worm Is Turning.
Demands for his resignation died down as time passed, and it is only occasionally that some southern dry arises in congress to denounce him and protest his continuance at the party steering wheel. There has been absolutely none since the Democratic success last November.

Replying to the charge that he was a convert from the Republicans, Chairman Raskob admitted it was true he had differed with the Democratic party on the silver issue in 1896, but asserted that he had voted for Woodrow Wilson and had always considered himself a Democrat.

No Apology Needed.
"There is no apology needed," he said, "for any man whose convictions are changed on any subject. Gossip has it that Mr. Hoover formerly was a Democrat."

To insinuations that he is "carrying on" in the hope that he and his friends may be able to dictate the candidate and the platform in 1932, Raskob had this to say:

"The Democratic party is not and will not be controlled by any man or small group of men. Nominations for president and vice president will be made by the Democratic national convention and not dictated by any clique."

Assign Quota To County In Red Cross Appeal

Seek $17,000 Here As Part Of Ten Million Drought Relief Fund

FIVE MILLION ALREADY SPENT

Chairman Clarence A. Patterson of the Lawrence County Chapter American Red Cross today received a telegram from John Parton Payne, National Chairman, assigning a quota of $17,000 to Lawrence County, in the appeal for a ten million dollar fund to meet the emergency situation throughout parts of 21 states which have been disastrously affected by the drought.

The American Red Cross has already expended five million dollars in relief work in these states and their reserve fund is now practically exhausted.

To Issue Proclamation
President Herbert Hoover yesterday approved the plans of the National Red Cross in raising this fund. The telegram explaining the situation and calling upon the local chapter to raise their quota of the fund, follows:

"Greatly increased demands during the last ten days have made imperative immediate campaign for Red Cross Relief Fund to meet emergency situation throughout parts of twenty one states in drought-stricken area. Minimum untold suffering and actual starvation by thousands of families.

"Pollution of water supply caused by dying cattle have added to winter hardships in some sections.

"President Hoover in proclamation today will urge immediate and generous response. Confident your people will not fail to meet their share of this humanitarian need, but because of general need, the necessity to impress upon you, the necessity for the most vigorous possible campaign. A success of our efforts will be regarded as a test of the Red Cross by President and the entire nation and we must not fail. Your chapter quota 17,000 dollars."

JOHN BARTON PAYNE

Chairman Patterson stated this morning that funds for this great humanitarian project will be accepted at the local chapter office, 835 East street. Checks should be made payable to American Red Cross and mailed to the local office at the above address.

Mr. Patterson joins in the appeal of National Chairman Payne, and urges residents of Lawrence county to respond liberally to this appeal, as the need is most urgent.

Central Union
The Central Union of the W. C. T. U. met Friday evening at the Y. W. C. A. for their monthly meeting with "Peace" and "The New Year" as the subjects discussed.

Mrs. William Kennedy read the report of the platform committee of the State convention.
"Victory Day" by Mrs. Boole, national president, was read by Mrs. Jennie Campbell. The state slogan for the past year was "The Line Shall Not Break Where I Stand" and the slogan for the current year is "The Keystone Stands"; the national slogan for 1931 is "Observance and Enforcement, not Repeal" on the Peace program. Mrs. Jennie Forquer read Mrs. Kellogg's letter in Friday's issue of The News.

The devotional period was led by Mrs. Jennie Forquer and a committee of two was appointed to write resolutions in the death of Mrs. Martha Ketter; the resolution was read by Mrs. Lillie B. Jones and it was adopted and placed on the minutes.

The annual "Victory Dinner" of the County W. C. T. U. was announced for Friday at 12:30 in the dining room of the First Baptist church. Reservations may be made not later than Wednesday morning by calling 5150-J.

There was reported 12 evangelistic meetings; 2 devotions; 15 Bibles and testaments; 10 library books; 10 book marks; 50 cards; 30 magazines; 17 tick calls; 1 letters; 1 pair shoes; $10.00 in money.

The February meeting will be Friday, February 13, and will be "Frances Willard" night.

Mrs. Catharine Stillings was received as a new member.

Sharon Negro Is Slain In Detroit
Sharon, Pa., Negro Catches Another Man With His Wife And Begins Shooting

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Jan. 13.—An alleged revolver duel, in which James Jackson, aged 44, a negro of Sharon, Pa., was shot and killed, today had resulted in the incarceration of John Murphy, also a negro, in city jail here pending the inquest into the Sharon man's death.

The shooting, according to police, occurred January 7, when Jackson allegedly caught Murphy in a love tryst with his wife. Jackson is said to have fired several shots at Murphy, the bullets going wild.

Bandits Kidnap Gas Station Man

Gunmen Hold Attendant Prisoner For More Than Hour In Auto

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 13.—Three armed bandits today kidnaped a gasoline station attendant and took him for a circuitous ride through the city's residential section before releasing him and speeding away with about $25, contents of a safe they smashed.

Robert C. Wasson, 21, the attendant, was held prisoner for more than an hour while the gunmen drove him over the city streets.

"Don't yell if you want to live," they commanded him, as two of the thugs held him prisoner in the car. Wasson was pressed against his side during the entire ride.

Wasson told police he was closing the station early this morning when the three gunmen leaped from a car and ordered him at revolver point to reopen the building.

Protesting that he had no key to the door, Wasson refused to obey the bandit commands. One of the three men smashed the glass in the door with the butt of his revolver and all four then entered the building.

Wasson was ordered to open the outer door to the safe after which the bandit trio smashed the inner compartment containing the cash.

Police reported the car used in the holdup had been stolen earlier in the day from the East End. Wasson said the bandits were all youthful and dapperly dressed.

Supporting bootleggers isn't unusual. America never has had a war without some citizens helping the enemy.

FORMER RECTOR TRINITY PARISH DIES SUDDENLY

Widely Known During His Stay
Here Through Healing
Mission Work

The Rev. William T. Reynolds, aged 47, rector of Trinity Episcopal church for a period of approximately four years prior to 1921, who was widely known in this district through the work of the healing mission that he conducted while here, died very suddenly Sunday in New York City, where he had been located recently.

Announcement of his death which was received here late yesterday came as a shock to the many friends that he made during his rectorship here. A man of outstanding personal appeal, due to his dynamic and pleasing personality, and whose interest in the sick and the unfortunate is well known here, he was well known and loved not only among the members of Trinity parish but the people in general in this city.

During the period of his rectorship here, one of the outstanding works that he performed was that of the healing mission, which proved of such benefit to many people that the sick came from far and near to participate in the same. He continued the work since leaving here with similar interesting results.

On leaving the rectorship of the church here, he became the arch-deacon of the Diocese of Erie, in which position, he was the assistant of the Rt. Rev. John C. Ward, the then and present bishop of the diocese. Since leaving the diocese, he has held charges in Wisconsin, Washington, D. C., Philadelphia and other points.

He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Lewis A. Seitz of 801 North Linwood avenue, Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Charles A. Lang, North Baltimore, Md., also a niece and a nephew.

Funeral services will be held Thursday morning from the residence of his sister, Mrs. Lewis A. Seitz, 801 North Linwood avenue, Baltimore, Md. Interment will be made in the family burial plot at Baltimore, Md.

Recluse Is Found Victim Of Suicide

(International News Service)
MEDINA, O., Jan. 13.—Found by a constable lying with the top of his head shot off and a shotgun lying nearby, John Schmidt, 55, a recluse living in a shack on a hillside near here, today was believed by police to have taken his own life when unable to pay a fine of $5 and costs.

Schmidt had been fined on an intoxication charge after he had quarreled with a fellow worker, and had been permitted to go free to secure money to pay the fine and costs.

Constable Hauck found the body when he came to collect the fine.

RECALL MANY AUTO WORKERS

Detroit Plants Boost Payrolls
By Two Million A Week

DETROIT, Jan. 13.—Industrial payrolls in the Detroit area today were stepped up approximately $2,000,000 a week. Thousands of workers were recalled either on full or part time as automobile factories increased their production schedules.

The total number of men employed in five large factories stood at 135,600 today. These men are working on schedules varying from three to five days a week. The factories are those of the Ford Motor company, the Cadillac Motor company, the Hudson Motor company, the Buick Motor company and the Chevrolet Motor company. Officials of these factories have indicated that additional workers will be put on as the situation warrants.

Heading the list was the Ford Motor company where more than 60,000 men returned Monday bringing the total employed to 75,000. Ford plants throughout the country Monday had a total of 107,000 men at work. The majority of the Ford workers are on a three-day-a-week basis.

The employment at other factories in the Detroit area stood as follows: Buick, 13,500; Hudson, 10,000; Cadillac, 6,000; Chevrolet, 32,100.

Officials of Chevrolet have indicated that they planned to have the normal force of 40,000 at work by the end of January.

SYMPTOMS OF HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

If you have those distressing symptoms of high blood pressure:—thumping and pounding in the head, dizziness, unsteady gait, nervousness and sleeplessness, go to New Castle Drug, Eckerd's or any drug store and get a bottle of Norma, a physician's prescription, that gives relief from these symptoms so surely and so quickly that improvement is often noticed the very first day it is used. Norma is not laxative, is easy and pleasant to use and has a wonderful record in helping hundreds of sufferers from high blood pressure symptoms.

Dr. Jos. A. Vance Begins Services

Detroit Preacher Begins Series Of Weekly Sermons In First Presbyterian Church

Before a splendid audience Monday evening in the First Presbyterian church Dr. Joseph A. Vance noted preacher of Detroit, Michigan, began a series of sermons, which will continue throughout the week.

For his first sermon he preached from Acts 17 the story of Philip the Evangelist, who led the Ethiopian eunuch to know Jesus, his Savior.

Dr. Vance developed the message about two main points: first, that Philip knew God; this is evident from the fact that he could be led away from a flourishing revival in Samaria to a desert, where there was small chance of meeting a single person; yet at God's suggestion, he obeyed; second, that Philip knew men; having turned to this man who was reading in his chariot and taking a genuine interest in him, teaching him and bringing him to Christ.

Dr. Vance stressed the fact that the Bible is a book about Christ and said when we properly understand the Bible, we will find that every path leading through this book will lead directly to Christ and his message was to Christian people, urging them to become useful in the hands of God.

Many ministers from the local churches were present to hear Dr. Vance deliver his opening sermon.

This evening he will preach on "The Call of God."

Oppose Plan Of Railway Company To Abandon Line

Vigorous Opposition From Butler On Plan Of Railway Company To Abandon Mars Line

(International News Service)
BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 13.—Vigorous opposition to the plan of the Pittsburgh, Mars and Butler Railway seeking to abandon rail-service between Butler and Mars was forecast today in a statement from Thomas J. Wampler, manager of the Board of Commerce.

Wampler declared his organization would oppose the application of the line to abandon the service which has been placed before the Public Service Commission.

Claiming that the branch of service has been unprofitable over a period of several years, officials of the company have moved to discontinue the service.

The road, connecting with the Pittsburgh Railways line at Etna, 33 miles from here, was completed and placed in operation in 1905. The Harmony Line, owned by the same company, provides service between Pittsburgh and Butler, through Evans City.

The Better Business Bureau, of the Board of Commerce, is expected to plan the group's action against the railway, according to officials of the board.

Rev. F. E. Stough To Present Pictures

In the St. John's Lutheran church Thursday evening at 8 o'clock the Lutheran League of the church will present Rev. F. E. Stough, pastor of the church in an illustrated lecture on Egypt, Palestine and Syria.

Rev. Stough traveled through these countries the past summer and his talk will be given from actual experience, his description of the various pictures shown being from things he saw while away. A great many of the pictures to be shown upon the screen were taken by Rev. Stough.

The Lutheran league of St. John's church has extended invitations to the Luther leagues of the other Lutheran churches and the lecture is open to the public, there being no admission charge.

December Busy Month At Local Charity Office

Executive Secretary, Associated Charities, Submits Report For December, 1930

December was a busy month for the Associated Charities, as is shown by the report of the executive secretary, Miss Della Glenn, read before the Associated Charities board on Monday evening.

Real Christmas spirit was shown by the citizens of New Castle. Through their cooperative generosity, Christmas was a cheery day in hundreds of homes that would otherwise be drab.

The Wincocks club gave some money to spend as the association thought best. The junior and senior Business and Professional Women's clubs donated 126 toys, and these were distributed among children who were before thought would not receive toys.

Senior Business and Professional Women's club also donated $27 to be spent for shoes. The money was needed and was very much appreciated.

The following supplies were given out this month. Twenty five baskets of groceries, seventeen orders of groceries, five meals given out, forty-eight pair of new shoes, three pair of new overcoats, one hundred thirty-five pairs of new stockings, ten pairs of new socks, thirty-nine suits of new underwear, nine suits of new pajamas, ten new sweaters, ten new night gowns, sixty infants' new garments, six boys new suits, two new lumber jackets, six boys' waists, four boys' caps, three pairs of gloves, fourteen pair of new bloomers, one baby's new coat, twenty new towels and 7 washcloths, two pairs of new pants, five new blankets and three comforts, three tons of coal, and two second hand stoves.

Also the following second hand garments were given out: six overcoats, four women's good coats, eight dresses, five good suits of men's clothes, six men's coats and vests, nine shirts, twenty-three pairs of shoes, seven pairs of rubbers and gaiters, ten suits of underwear.

One hundred seventy-two business and telephone calls were made. Five investigations were made and three letters written to outside agencies.

Received the donation from the schools this month. Did not receive as much as usual, feel it was a splendid donation considering the many calls parents have had in the last six months and we are very grateful to all who helped in any way.

Nationalities asking for help: Americans, Polish, German, Italian, Negro, Syrians.

Governor Murray Takes Up Duties After Inaugural

Eccentric "Alfalfa Bill" Murray Is Installed As Oklahoma Gov.

INDIANS AID IN INAUGURATION

Announces To World Just How He Intends To Conduct Affairs Of State

(International News Service)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 13.—William H. Murray, who started life in the cotton fields of Texas and started school after he was twenty years of age, today occupied the executive mansion of Oklahoma.

The oath of office as governor was administered Murray yesterday by his father, the Rev. Uriah Thomas Murray, 91 years old.

The text of the oath, the elder Murray read to his son was printed in large letters on a card a foot square but at times he had to be

LADY EXPERT COMING TO HELP RUPTURED WOMEN

Demonstrates Rice Method Free To All

Mrs. J. A. Gilligan, representing William S. Rice, Adams, N. Y., inventor of the famous Rice (Non-Surgical) Method for Rupture will be at Leslie Hotel, New Castle, Pa., Wed. afternoon and evening, Jan. 14, all day and evening, Thurs., Jan. 15, to demonstrate a new special corset attachment that holds any rupture no matter how large. Even if the abdomen is very fleshy, it holds any rupture with ease, comfort and security.

Every woman who has been compelled to wear an ordinary truss or abdominal support knows the gouging, cutting and chafing caused by narrow bands. The weight of the abdomen or pressure necessary in holding the rupture must be carried by the band around the back, and the pressure is sometimes very great, causing untold suffering. The special, broad supporting corset back distributes the pressure so as to do away with all cutting and chafing.

There are thousands of women who are in perfect misery because they cannot find anything that will hold their rupture and the abdomen at the same time. The appliances usually worn are hot, bulky, chafing and irritating. But this wonderful Combined Corset Back Support is light, flexible, durable and cool and fits the figure like a glove. It gives you a sense of absolute comfort and protection while at the same time greatly improving abdominal outlines.

Trusses in common use are not adapted to women and often do great harm. Women therefore, suffer more and are in greater danger from rupture than men, and all women, who have ruptures or who wear an abdominal support of any kind should not fail to call and see this wonderful Combined Corset Back Support. No description or illustration can fully convey the remarkable utility of this splendid Support. It must be seen; it must be put on to convince any woman that it was designed for her.

Mrs. Gilligan takes a large woman just as she is, all out of shape and unsightly and by this remarkable Corset Support gives her a natural, neat, trim figure.

She will also give full instructions on how to handle and care for any rupture, large or small. She will show how to hold any kind of rupture from the simple groin and femoral to the large and difficult Navel and after Operation Ruptures, without chafing or squeezing, also how to wear the corset correctly.

Don't let this great opportunity get away from you. Don't continue to suffer the burden of rupture and truss wearing when it is so entirely unnecessary. Your call on this Lady Expert is sure to prove one of the best things you ever did. She will be there only two days, then your opportunity will be gone. The fitting and demonstration are free. It doesn't cost you a penny to learn all about the Rice Method and the wonderful opportunity to help it offers in your case. After demonstration you can purchase the Outfit required if you wish.

Call any time from 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m., or 7 to 9 evenings. Just ask at the hotel desk for the Rice Representative and she will do the rest.

prompted as the dim eyes could not make out the type.

Behind Murray on the platform as he took his oath were sixteen Comanche Indians, headed by chief Millet Hoy-Koy-Bitty, resplendent in gaily colored robes and feathered head-dresses.

Indian Chief Prays
Following the ceremony, the six-foot chief rendered a prayer in his native tongue in which he asked divine guidance of the great white chief.

The new governor then spoke for one hour, a typical Murray speech charged with humor and filled with thrusts at political enemies.

His first thrust was directed at ex-governor Holloway who pardoned or paroled more than 700 convicts in the closing days of his administration.

"There is one governor" Murray said "who will never ask a prisoner to ask for a pardon so I can split 50-50 on it. I believe in paroles and pardons if it is proven that the convict is entitled to them but they will be free."

Will Cut Taxes
Murray promised that if the Legislature would pass the laws he would introduce, taxes on every piece of property in the state would be cut in half by July 1.

Referring to the burning alive of a negro in Maryville, Mo. Murray said: "Everybody has a right to equal protection under the law and nothing would chagrin me more in the next four years than to have it said a mob existed in Oklahoma."

Murray said thousands had applied to him for jobs but none would be forthcoming to those hanging around the executive door.

"There won't be many jobs, anyway," Murray said. "I am going to abolish many useless jobs and work hard myself and everyone under me is going to work hard."

Murray then introduced his four sons, two of whom work in the oil fields.

"It has been suggested to me that I give them state jobs," Murray said "but one Murray on the payroll of the state is enough and they will continue to work in the oil fields."

Murray, at his inauguration wore a felt hat which had seen him through the campaign, an overcoat several seasons old and a worn but neat suit. He spoke of his clothes and his habits which have been ridiculed.

"I intend as governor, to set an example in dress that the poor man of the state can follow," Murray said. "I intend to make respectable clothing that any poor farmer or working man can buy. I will not dress better than I have or live better."

Murray said the executive mansion would see some plain entertainment during his tenure of office and that it would be like a home with his former friends and their wives coming to call, the same as they have done for years past.

Honest Government
In conclusion Murray promised honest government during the administration and asked the assistance of all citizens who wished that kind of government.

Murray has prepared a 35 page message to be delivered to the legislature today or tomorrow in which he has set forth his plans of tax reduction and other measures.

Practice Show
Benjamin Franklin Girl Reserves met on Monday evening at 3:45 in the school building for the purpose of selecting the cast and practicing for the show that they plan to pre-sent on February 12 and 13. The show promises to be interesting and the cast will include a large number of girls, all of whom are members of the club.

Mothers Club.
It was announced today by Miss W. J. N. Sroczyńska head of the Mothers club of the International Institute home on Pennsylvania avenue that that organization will hold its regular monthly meeting at the institute home on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Many things of a business importance will be discussed at the meeting.

Friendship Circle.
The Friendship Circle of the institute home on Pennsylvania avenue, will hold its regular meeting at the Y. W. C. A. on Thursday evening with Miss Espedita Marie Abruzzi the supervisor in charge. Following the short business meeting the members will play basketball in the gymnasium. The Square Circle meets also at the Y. W. C. A. on Friday night.

LOCAL ROTARIANS TO HEAR INTERNATIONAL HEAD AT YOUNGSTOWN
An invitation to New Castle Rotarians to attend a noon-day dinner of the Youngstown Rotary club in honor of International Secretary Chesley R. Perry, in the Hotel Ohio ballroom, January 21, will likely be accepted by a part of the membership of the club.

Other Rotary delegations will also be in attendance.

Speedy Relief for Sore Throat
This Doctor's Prescription Requires No Gargling
No longer is it necessary to gargle and choke with nasty tasting medicines to relieve sore throat. Now you can get almost instant relief with one swallow of a doctor's famous prescription. This prescription was refilled so often that the druggist who originally filled it decided to put it up under the name "Thoxine" and make it available to everyone.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that it relieves almost instantly, yet contains nothing harmful. It is pleasant tasting, and safe for the whole family, and is guaranteed to relieve sore throats or coughs in 15 minutes or money back. Put up ready for use in 35c. 60c. and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Love & Megown Drug Co. and all other good drug stores.

Today Marks Anniversary Of Death Of Stephen Foster

Today marks the anniversary of the death of Stephen Collins Foster, and the following essay is one that was written sometime ago, by Dorothy Hunter, of 827 Lathrop street, being published today in view of the anniversary occasion.

On July 4, 1825, just fifty years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence, Stephen Collins Foster was born. His father, Colonel William Barclay Foster, was one of Pittsburgh's leading Scott-Irish citizens. At the age of six years Stephen showed a marked interest in music. He attended Athens Academy in Bradford county, and Jefferson college in Washington county, Pennsylvania; at the latter, however, he did not stay long.

For a short time he struggled in vain to find his life's work. Finally, in 1851, lured on by a contest in writing songs for negro minstrelsy, he wrote a group of songs which mark an epoch in American music. Having no idea of the value of his works, he sold most of them to C. E. P. Christy, a minstrel leader of Buffalo, N. Y. Christy bought "Old Folks at Home," but as it gained popularity, he kindly relinquished his claim on the copyright. Foster's unhappy marriage to Miss Jane Denny McDowell in 1850, and the death of his parents in 1854 were powerful factors in ruining his career. He had also followed a prey to the use of alcohol which dragged him to the lowest degradation. His last years were spent in New York City where, on January 13, 1864, he died, a charity patient of the Bellevue hospital. His untimely death was the result of a wound in the throat caused by his falling on a broken pitcher. He was buried in the Allegheny cemetery at Pittsburgh.

Incidents in Foster's life make us know him better. To think of Foster is to think of brown wrapping paper. When he had an inspiration to write a song, he seemed to be unable to find any other than wrapping paper. Foster was not only a poor performer, but he hated to perform in public. Once, he and his brother were invited to spend the evening with a friend. "And Stephen might bring his flute along," suggested the friend. "You may go and take my flute," said Stephen to his brother, "but I will stay at home."

It is interesting to know what caused the creation of Foster's most popular folk songs. Through his grandmother, he was related to Judge John Rowen, one of Kentucky's first senators, and the owner of a mansion and many slaves at Federal Hill, Kentucky. Stephen spent a great deal of his boyhood on this plantation, where he came in contact with only the attractive side of slavery. The writing of "The Old Kentucky Home" was one result of these visits to Federal Hill, while "Massa in the Cold, Cold Ground" was written at the death of Judge Rowen. The latter shows the devotion of a darkey to a kind master. In writing "Old Folks at Home," probably his best known folk song, Foster was obliged to ask his brother for the name of a southern river containing two syllables. Atter consulting a map, the name "Swanee" was suggested. Thus was immortalized the little Florida stream never seen by the poet. Foster has never had a rival in producing songs like these and the melodies, "Old Back Joe," and "Uncle Ned". These five songs show the pathetic side of the Negro, rather than presenting him as the clown of minstrel shows. Most of the songs of the former type, although written in the white man's dialect, come from the lips of the Negro. The musician's genius was often called forth by trivial incidents. In 1852, a friend gave him a dog which became his constant joy. This humble companion later found fame in "Old Dog Tray". Thus were created folk songs which will live forever in the hearts of the American people.

No country has a better background for Negro folklore than America, and no individual has reflected it more clearly than this "Southern Melodist". Through his songs, he has voiced the feelings of an entire race. Today, not only America, but the whole world pays homage to Stephen Collins Foster.

How many miles per hour do wild geese fly?
Wild geese have been found to travel on their migrations at between 44 and 46 miles an hour.

Was September 1, 1908, Labor Day? If not, what was the date of this holiday in that year?
September 1, 1908, fell on a Tuesday, consequently Labor Day, always being the first Monday in September was on September 7.

What part of a suit of armor are the greaves?
Greaves are pieces of armor used as a defense for the legs. They were originally made of leather, quilted linen etc., and later of steel hollowed to fit the legs and fastened with straps behind.

What Indian chief was presented with a medal in recognition of his service to humanity?
Petaleshare, a Pawnee chief of the Siskiyou band, when visiting Washington as a delegate from the Pawnees in 1821, was presented with a medal in recognition of his breaking up the practice of his tribe of making human sacrifices. When a young warrior, he distinguished himself by an act of humane bravery in rescuing a captive girl who was about to be sacrificed by his village. The girl, taken from the Sioux tribe, was being led to the scaffold when Petaleshare broke through the circle, seized the girl, and throwing her upon one of two horses which he had in waiting, was off with her before the people could recover from their surprise. Outdistancing pursuers, he escorted the girl to a point near her own country and then left her to find her way home on the horse which he gave her. On returning to his village, he faced the anger of the tribe with such boldness that he was allowed to go unharmed and was ultimately able to break up the practice of human sacrifice by procuring the substitution of vicarious ceremony.

In parliamentary practice, what is pairing?

In parliamentary practice an arrangement of which two members of a legislature who intend to take opposite votes on a question agree that both will absent themselves for a limited time, thus leaving the relative strength of their parties unchanged, is known as pairing. It has long been a recognized custom in the House of Commons in England. The first known instance in the United States congress occurred in 1840. It was severely rebuked by John Quincy Adams, who prepared a resolution declaring that it involved the violation of the Constitution of an express rule of the house, and of the duties of both parties. The resolution was never voted upon, and the practice recommended by its obvious convenience, has since become common.

Who made the first pocket watch?
A German clockmaker of Nuremberg, Peter Hele, is credited with having made the first pocket time-piece about 1511.

Old Romance Which Has Lain Dormant 45 Years Rekindled

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 13. — A romance which thrived 45 years ago and then was dormant until early this fall has resulted in the marriage of a Memphis artist and a widow, who was his childhood sweetheart in the early eighties.

The couple was married recently in Kalamazoo, Mich., and is now honeymooning in the south.

The romance was reopened when Frank L. Van Ness, 64-year-old artist, former newspaper man and painter, visited in Michigan. The visitor was mentioned in the columns of the Paw Paw Courier-Northerner. Believing it was her former sweetheart, Mrs. Rose Slater, 62, widowed and the mother of three children, wrote Van Ness from her home in Kalamazoo.

Van Ness replied in person and shortly afterward the couple announced their engagement.

"DON'T GROW OLD!"

John Boles
warns you

JOHN BOLES, Universal, whose excellent singing voice and fine acting ability have made him one of the screen's most popular stars, tells you what he considers woman's most priceless possession.

Learn the complexion secret 98% of the important screen actresses know

"NOWADAYS no woman need be afraid of birth-days," John Boles says. "Charm isn't by any means measured by years!

"One of the most alluring women I know is . . . But it wouldn't be fair to tell! No one would ever guess—and she's admired wherever she goes.

"These days not only stage and screen stars but hundreds of other women have learned a very important secret of allure. YOUTH is recognized for the priceless thing it is . . . complexions are kept glowing."

How amazingly the famous stars keep youth!

"To keep youth, guard complexion beauty," they will tell you. "Keep your skin temptingly smooth, alluringly aglow!"

The actresses famous for their charm the world over use Lux Toilet Soap, and have for years. So well-known is their preference for this fragrant, beautifully white soap that it is found in theater dressing rooms everywhere. . . is official in all the great film studios.

Of the countless Hollywood, Broadway, European stars who use this white soap, some have the fine-grained skin that is inclined to dryness; some the skin that tends to be oily; some the in-between skin . . .

Whatever your individual type may be, you, too, will find Lux Toilet Soap the perfect soap—so neutral, so bland is its effect on the skin.

EVELYN LAYE, co-starring with John Boles in a recent picture, says: "Lux Toilet Soap is a wonderful soap."

Better Health Follows Rapidly When Alcohol Is Taken From System

Dr. Clendening Takes Actual Case To Show Effects Of Liquor On Body And Improvement
With Abstinence

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

By the time this article reaches my reader's eye it will be two weeks after New Year's. At that period those of you who made resolutions for future conduct—of healthy living will be wondering whether, after all, it pays. This comes to what your almost blunted purpose.

I record the experiences of a former patient of mine, an acute observer of his internal mechanisms. He was one of those who never heard of the passage of the Volstead act. Even he was one of those who subscribed passionately to the researches of Professor Raymond Pearl, of John Hopkins—researches which indicate that alcohol has very little deleterious effect on the human system.

But this past year he overdid a little. New Year's day found him staring at the enormous and bloated figure of Colonel R. E. Morse, standing at the foot of his bed. Raising a somewhat tremulous hand toward heaven, my friend remarked: "Never again—or at least!" (his better nature reminding him of caution) "not for several months."

Today he gave me an account of his sensations during the past few momentous days. I record them as a matter of scientific interest without comment of any sort.

"It has been quite an experience," he said. "The great and important thing is that it is possible for even so lost a one as I to refrain from the use of the ingredient. It took will power, but it can be done—a fact I would not have believed two months ago. Suddenly, dramatically, with no tapering off, no placation of lower and more judicious advances from my still, small voice. I stopped. I want to send that message to all sufferers. It can be done. No one is so far lost as to be beyond salvation."

"Furthermore, there is no question but that the general state of my health is improved. I will admit that for a while along about 5 o'clock in the afternoon a fit of nervousness closely resembling epilepsy assailed me. This was accompanied by a deep melancholy and a determination to save money, an entirely new idea in my intellectual domain.

"About 5 o'clock, also my liver began telegraphing up to me something to this effect:

"What is the matter? Here I have engaged all my veins, preparing for the daily onslaught of bootleg. A large number of cells are standing ready to do the usual afternoon liver lobule regenerating. But it seems to be unnecessary. This is disorganizing our schedule."

"But in the mornings things are different. My liver telegraphs: 'The boys had a good rest last night for the first time in years. We have arranged to do a lot of renovating that has been needed for some time. We are putting a gang over on the left lobe of your liver and will soon have all the scar tissue removed and replaced by healthy liver cells.'

"Furthermore, my skin does not itch continuously, up to noon any more. I have done a much work at the office that I'm thinking of enlarging the quarters. I have read three good books, and my children run and kiss me when I come home instead of scattering to the cellar and the attic."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Three pamphlets and three articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. Final Report On Roll Call Given

Over $1,500 Raised By Lawrence County Chapter
During November Campaign

Slightly more than $1,500 was raised in the annual Roll Call conducted by the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving, according to the final report rendered by Secretary Orville Potter at the monthly meeting of the Executive Committee Monday evening.

Of this sum, $534 was sent to the national organization as their share of the fund, the remaining $1,000 being available for use by the Chapter in relief work and expenses incidental to maintain the local office.

Two classes in first aid have been conducted under the direction of Ralph Davis, chairman of life saving and first aid so far this winter. In the one class there were 48 who took part, 23 of them passing the final examinations entitling them to first aid certificates. Three others passed the required examiners examinations.

Another class of 20 was conducted at the Pennsylvania Engineering Works, with Henry Cullford as instructor. A dinner was held by this group in The Castleton last evening commemorating the completion of the course.

In addition, Secretary Potter reported that life saving classes were being conducted at the two swimming pools in the city schools.

Rheumatism Goes Swollen Joints Vanish

How To End Rheumatism In Less Than A Week

If you suffer from torturing rheumatic pains, sore muscles or stiff inflamed joints, it's because your system is full of the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatism and make thousands helpless. What you need is RU-MA, and need it right now.

RU-MA acts on the blood, stomach, kidneys and liver, and drives the dangerous rheumatic poisons from the system through the natural channels of elimination—it causes pain the first day.

You must use an internal medicine to free the joints and muscles of crippling stiffness, soreness and torturing pain. That's why RU-MA succeeds while external remedies and pain deadening drugs give only temporary relief.

New Castle Drug Co., Eckford's says no matter what kind of rheumatism you have, or how long you have suffered, try RU-MA—it must completely and all rheumatic agony or you get your money back.

Preparing For Student Influx

Two Hundred Thirty-Three Will Enter Ben Franklin Junior High In February

Members of the faculty of the Benjamin Franklin junior high school are preparing for the influx of pupils on February 2. Miss Mary Scherger, of the faculty, announced that about 233 pupils will arrive at the junior high school from the grade schools.

There is much work to be done in order to make arrangements for the new students. Frank L. Burton, principal of Franklin, has been working hard arranging the schedule of classes.

Intelligence tests will be given the new youngsters.

Negro Dives Down Chimney Escaping From Policemen

Chicago Negro Is Badly Blistered And Suffering Bullet Wound After Chase

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Badly blistered and suffering from a bullet wound, Charles Jones, negro, reposed in Bridewell hospital today recovering from the ill effects of a roof-top chase which ended when he dove head first down a chimney to escape police bullets.

Jones plunged ended in the lower part of the chimney where he became so tightly wedged that the fire department had to tear a portion of the masonry away to release him.

The chase began when Jones and Mitchell Washington Hamilton attempted to rob two police detectives. Discovering their error, the two negroes fled to the roof-tops.

THIS WOMAN IS FIRING HER FURNACE THE AUTOMATIC WAY... WITH GAS

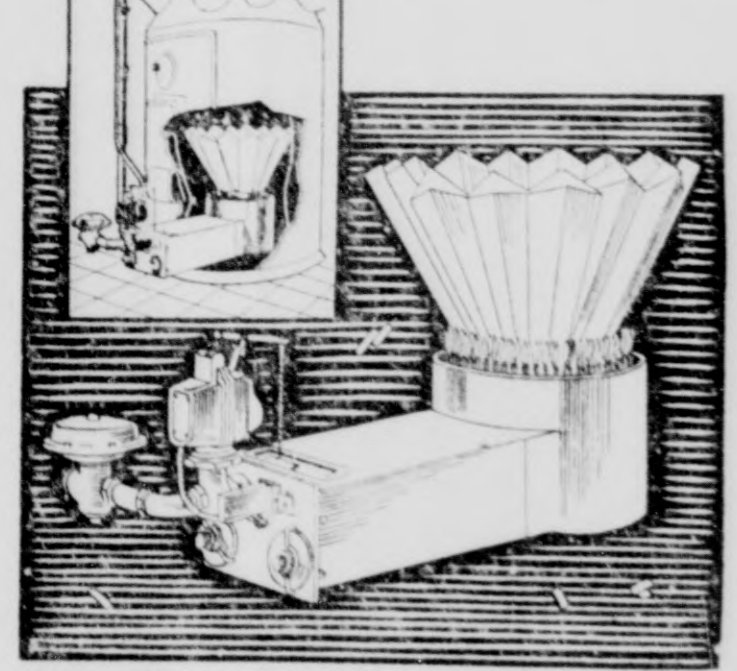

Low Down Payment modernizes your present boiler or furnace

Look again at the above picture—the woman is firing her furnace right from her living room—merely by setting the thermostat on the wall with her finger tip. The automatic gas burner in the furnace downstairs does the rest.

You, too, can do all your furnace tending from your easy chair. Have us slip an automatic gas burner in your coal furnace or boiler. Then—you're freed from furnace slavery for good. You'll have no more back-aching, ash-hauling. No soot. No grime. Less cleaning bills. An even, safe, healthful temperature at all times. Your time, convenience and health are worth a lot, aren't they? Then, start NOW to get more out of your home life.

Cost to Operate?

No more than old-fashioned heating ways, when you consider the saving in time, health, cleaning bills and convenience. Our engineer will survey your heating problems—and show just what your gas bills will be by this modern automatic heating method. Phone us. No obligation.

Tom Finds Ol' Bill, Brother Who Ran Off Half A Century Ago

'Farming Out' Of Boys Leads To Long Separation

By Central Press.
MOLINE, Ill., Jan. 13.—This is the story of Bill and Tom.

William S. and Thomas W. Renoe, the latter of this city, who knew each other as Bill and Tom in the days of their boyhood and who for that reason should be known as Bill and Tom in this story.
They'd like it that way.

When Bill stepped from the train here it was to walk into the open arms of Tom, the Tom who is T. W.
Renoe of Moline. Their meeting was the first since 1897, when they parted on a farm near Macomb, Ill., the venturesome Bill to seek his fortune in the newly-opened "Indian land," now Oklahoma, and the more staid Tom to settle in Moline, where he has since made his home and built up a prosperous business.

Tries For Half Century.

For 51 years Tom exhausted every means at his command in an effort to find Bill. He notified police chiefs in a score of cities, he advertised in the columns of newspapers in as many cities, he went out like a hound on a scent at the scantiest clue, but he came back with empty hands and with aching heart.

Then, when all hope appeared to be lost he received a letter from a certain Thar Skar, a Norwegian farmer in McGregor, N. D. The letter was not addressed to Tom but to the Moline postmaster—but let Tom tell it.

"It was about a year ago that the letter came to me, and I knew the instant I had read it that there at last was my brother, Mr. Skar, who was a neighbor of Bill's in North Dakota, asked the postmaster to locate a certain Renoe, last heard of in Moline.

"The letter was delivered to me without delay and, to make sure, I had been disappointed so many times, you see—instead of writing to Bill I wrote to Skar, telling him

WILLIAM S. RENOE

THOMAS W. RENOE

to ask the man believed to be my brother certain questions, which I knew would determine for all time whether or not he really was Bill.
Skar wrote back that the questions had been answered to the entire satisfaction of both of us and then
I wrote to Bill."

Yields to Brother's Entreaties.
Bill answered Tom's letter and they corresponded for several months before Bill could take time from his work on the Dakota farm to visit Moline. Finally he yielded to his brother's earnest entreaties and the happy reunion was the result.

"We were born in Mississippi," says Tom, "too many years ago for me to mention for publication. Our father died when we were mere kids, and in 1863 we moved with our mother to Macomb, Ill.

"Mother died shortly after that and Bill and myself were 'farmed out' on nearby farms. Both of us were mistreated by the families with whom we lived; treated as inferiors and forced to wear cast-off clothing.

Bill Runs Away.

"One day Bill walked the 12 miles to visit me, and I was so afraid the folks would return and be angry with us both that I told him to leave. He left and that was the last I saw of him until he stepped from the train here."

Tom wept openly as he related Bill's story, but his tears were tears of joy and not the tears he must have shed 50 years ago when he waited in vain for the return of his brother.

"How long will Bill be with me?"
Tom repeated the question. "You can say for me to all the world, and I'll back the statement with my life—he'll be here from now on!"

Continue Search For Auto Owner At Steubenville

Officials Seek To Locate Person Driving Auto That Killed Young Boy

(International News Service)
STEUBENVILLE, O., Jan. 13.—
Police search continued today for the owner of an automobile which climbed a curb and ran down four children, killing one, and injuring the others, all of whom were members of the same family.

Stanley Pawlczuk, 9, was the victim of the irresponsible driving.
Tracing of a license found on the car alleged to have been the one which ran into the children, and which was found abandoned in an alley late, revealed that the plate were issued to Frank Thomas, Negro, of this city. Thomas cannot be located, police say. Witnesses to the accident described a woman as the driver of the car.

POLAND YIELDS TO ELEVATION OF EXECUTIVE

(International News Service)
WARSAW, Jan. 13.—In accordance with Marshal Pilsudski's dictum that "the only sovereign in Poland is not the parliament but the president," the presiding officers of both Sejm and Senate have signified the subordination of the legislative to the executive branch of government.

Sejm Marshal Switalski and Senate Marshal Raczkiewicz, belonging to Pilsudski's party, first requested the approval of President Moscicki before accepting their election.

Also, Sejm Marshal Switalski declared that he would not demand release of deputies arrested during their term of office.

"The courts know best which deputies to prosecute," he said.
Both actions are considered vital precedents and as an indication along which line Pilsudski plans to reform the Polish constitution.

The opposition charges that Switalski is violating the present constitution by setting aside the immunity of members of parliament.

Infantile Paralysis Is Discussed By Dr. Appel

"One of the most difficult diseases successfully to treat and one of the most dreaded of maladies is infantile paralysis. Attacking the young decidedly more often than it does the adult, it is nevertheless no respecter of persons either in its approach or end results. Like many another death-dealing or crippling disease it is cowardly in its offensive and obtains a devastating hold upon its victim before the subject and members of the family are aware of its presence. But again, exhibiting a similarity to other infections that stab in the back, its approach is heralded by an indisposition which in itself appears to be mild and therefore apparently unworthy of real concern. Which emphasizes two main fundamental points, namely, the value of early diagnosis, and the development of a proper attitude toward illness in general," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health, today.

"At the onset of infantile paralysis it is frequently impossible to tell definitely what is ailing the patient. But is a well established fact that this disease often times in its start displays the symptoms usually associated with a severe cold. And so, as in the case of simple colds, however unnecessary it may outwardly appear, little people manifesting an apparent cold condition should immediately be put to bed. Obviously, if the affliction turns out to be only a cold there is absolutely no more effective or better treatment for it than bed. On the other hand, if unfortunately infantile paralysis exists then one of the most important steps in its satisfactory control has been adopted.

"It is not too much to say that if every child, or adult for that matter, stricken with infantile paralysis had immediately been put to bed upon the first appearance of illness, no matter how innocent the symptoms appeared to be, there would be many fewer paralyzed and atrophied legs as an unhappy aftermath of this most unfortunate affliction.

"Fortunately in Pennsylvania during the last year the incidence in this disease has not been high. But wisely applied caution on the part of parents will even reduce the distress and suffering which this malady has caused in the past.

"It follows that no parent, nor any other person, has any logical right to dismiss any disease symptoms lightly; bed and the immediate services of the doctor represent a defensive which if more generally applied would cut down the present power of insidious diseases with their consequence of suffering or death. And there is no disease to which this statement more perfectly applies than to that of the dread infantile paralysis.

"Nature warns all of us. That we should be more responsive to these warnings is still one of the greatest requirements for long, healthy and happy life."

Red Cross Gives Ice Safety Rules

Home Made Ponds Are Safest, National Organization States

Keep off one-inch ice and save yourself a cold plunge, counsels the American Red Cross, a foremost advocate of safe winter sports. Under safety rules outlined by the national organization, skating hazards are being removed and thousands of new enthusiasts are being won to this popular recreation.

"Know the ice," they counsel. There's more truth than poetry in the rhyme—

One inch, keep off!
Two inches, one may;
Three inches, small groups;
Four inches, O. K.
They urge making ponds to order. The University of Chicago boards in its lawns and floods them. Other places get the city fire department to turn the hose on parks or hollows. These methods not only afford perfect safety from drowning, but usually result in smoother, better skating surfaces.

Skaters are urged to take an inventory of available rescue material at hand. Thirty or forty feet of light rope should be carried in a pocket. In the last year, 52,596 men and women passed the rigid Red Cross life saving tests, making them available for first aid and life saving work in their communities.

Plane To Try To Beat Record Of Graf Zeppelin

MILFORD, Del., Jan. 13.—Announcement was made here that Bert Balchen, widely known aviator, is planning a world circling flight in a Fokker airplane in an effort to beat the time made by the Graf Zeppelin in September, 1929. Balchen was a guest of honor here at the 54th anniversary dinner of the L. D. Caulk company. He said he hoped to start on the world tour about April, but that the details had not been arranged.

In its world tour the Graf Zeppelin consumed 21 days, 8 hours and 25 minutes from Lakehurst, N. J., back to Lakehurst, and 20 days and 4 hours from Friedrichshafen, Germany, back to that point.

Search Is Made
For Auto Driver

STEBENVILLE, O., Jan. 13.—An intensive search is being made throughout this section for the owner of an automobile which last night climbed a curb and ran down four children, killing one of them and injuring the others.

The victim was Stanley Pawlczky, 9, and three but were a younger sister and two brothers.

Police who recovered the auto from an alley where it had been abandoned after the accident, claim the license was issued to Frank Thomas, Negro, of this city, but Thomas cannot be located. Witnesses of the accident say a woman was driving the car at the time.

Bo Broadway

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—It's remarkable the number of horses still employed by Tammany Town concerns. Several large shops in the city, eschewing motors daily, send forth delivery wagons, their harness chains rattling just as they used to back in the old days.

Horseback riding is still a favorite pastime among the wealthy; and in Manhattan alone 120 blacksmith shops are kept busy from morning till night shoeing the Big Town steeds.

Changes in standards of living in a city like New York are so gradual they pass unnoticed.

A new era of hotel keeping, for example, has come about, with a transition so imperceptible that no one can say just when the old order gave way.

Metropolitan hotels have come to be regarded as places of long-term residence, rather than mere breathing spaces for visitors.

First there was the private, detached house. Then the brownstone front—sometimes a two-family affair. Later "flats" became the vogue and in turn gave way to "apartments."

The co-operative apartment made its appearance next and today apartment hotels are the "last word."

For Auto Driver

STEBENVILLE, O., Jan. 13.—An intensive search is being made throughout this section for the owner of an automobile which last night climbed a curb and ran down four children, killing one of them and injuring the others.

The victim was Stanley Pawlczky, 9, and three but were a younger sister and two brothers.

Police who recovered the auto from an alley where it had been abandoned after the accident, claim the license was issued to Frank Thomas, Negro, of this city, but Thomas cannot be located. Witnesses of the accident say a woman was driving the car at the time.

THE SECRETARY'S OFFICE OF THE Mercer Fair Association located on the Mercer Fair grounds was destroyed by fire Saturday evening. Frank Johnson well known horseman in this district who was training horses here this winter was making his home in this building and it is thought that the fire started from an overheated stove. The loss was estimated at several hundred dollars.

ON SHOW PROGRAM A feature of the Pennsylvania Farm show to be held at Harrisburg on January 19 to the 23 will be the demonstration of theoretical farming by students of the Fredonia Vocational school, a team of four boys will represent the school. Among other contributions from the county will be ten carloads of livestock including cattle, sheep, and swine.

DENIED NEW TRIAL A new trial was denied the Frank Mercantile Company by James Wallace trading as James Wallace Company of Greenville. The suit was to recover $225 for a machine placed in a restaurant. At the November term of common pleas court a verdict was returned for the defendant.

PLAN CONVENTION The annual convention of the school directors association will be held in the assembly room of the court house here on January 15 and 16. A fine list of speakers has been secured by County Superintendent of Schools W. M. Johnson for the meeting. Directors from the entire county will be present.

SEEK ROAD OFFICE An effort is being made to have a highway office located in Mercer in the near future as it is a center of good roads for the state. Mercer county now has upwards to 575 miles of improved roads. About 200 miles of this road is maintained by the state.

THE SERVICE, beginning promptly at 7:30 that night will be in charge of Scoutmaster John A. Dunfee, assisted by Commissioner Ralph Davis. All New Castle and Union township troops will be asked to attend wearing uniforms and bringing troop and patrol colors with them.

An interesting program arranged by the boys of Troop 21, the St. Paul's troop, will feature. At 8:15 that night the scout oath will be renewed. A pageant of scouting will also be presented and the Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of the congregation, will speak on the 12th scout law.

Lay Dinner Plans Scoutmaster Ed Schmidt of Troop 17 announces the Ladies' Aid of that church will arrange for the camp reunion dinner to be held in the church dining room on Friday evening, February 13. Other invitations were received from local churches and were appreciated.

Expect "Anniversary Week" Program Of Boy Scouts To Be Completed In A Few Days

Daily programs for the various special days of the Boy Scout "Anniversary Week" observance here in February are rapidly taking shape, and scout headquarters soon expect to announce the full week's lineup of activities. The Sunday service in the St. Paul's Lutheran church, February 8 is the latest to be announced.

The service, beginning promptly at 7:30 that night will be in charge of Scoutmaster John A. Dunfee, assisted by Commissioner Ralph Davis. All New Castle and Union township troops will be asked to attend wearing uniforms and bringing troop and patrol colors with them.

An interesting program arranged by the boys of Troop 21, the St. Paul's troop, will feature. At 8:15 that night the scout oath will be renewed. A pageant of scouting will also be presented and the Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of the congregation, will speak on the 12th scout law.

Lay Dinner Plans Scoutmaster Ed Schmidt of Troop 17 announces the Ladies' Aid of that church will arrange for the camp reunion dinner to be held in the church dining room on Friday evening, February 13. Other invitations were received from local churches and were appreciated.

Representative of troops in the northern section of the county were completing arrangements today for attending a county caucus in the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Friday evening, January 16. Candidates and party platforms for the civic projects to be worked out for the week, the plan will be running at "run" city and county affairs for an hour on Lincoln's birthday, February 12.

Elwood Has Part Word from Elwood City indicates that parallel arrangements are proceeding there for the same events will occur in the Tab City on the same dates. It is expected that, locally at any rate, arrangements for the 21st anniversary program will eclipse anything heretofore held under the auspices of the Boy Scouts.

A JOURNEY TO VENUS

Being An Account Of A Flight Through Space From The Earth To The Planet Venus

By S. S. MYERS

CHAPTER I

While on a visit to an eastern city recently I happened to meet a friend who had formerly been a student in the college with which I had been connected during his collegiate course. After graduating he went west and the last I heard from him he was reporting on a newspaper in Los Angeles.

He invited me to accompany him to his hotel, where after talking over old times and comparing notes, he remarked:

"I came here on a wild goose chase and have met with no success. But before explaining I am going to tell you of a most unusual experience I have had recently. You may not believe it, and may think I am off in the upper story, but I assure you I am still of sound mind and in possession of all my faculties."

"Go ahead," said I. "I am a very credulous creature."

HIS STORY:
Soon after going to Los Angeles I became acquainted with Professor Carl Scharwenski, a noted scientist of whom you have doubtless heard. Owing to the fact that I, as you know, am somewhat of an amateur astronomer, the professor and I became very good friends. He frequently called at my apartment when I was off duty, and we had many interesting discussions of the latest discoveries and theories.

On one occasion we were considering the probabilities of life on other planets, when I ventured to remark that in my opinion there are only two other planets in our solar system on which life, as we know it, could exist, namely, Mars and Venus. But that on account of the envelop of mist or clouds that surround Venus, preventing even our best telescopes from penetrating to its surface, we would probably never learn anything more about it than we know now.

"Don't be too sure about that, my friends," said Scharwenski. "I venture to say we shall learn a great deal about conditions on Venus very soon."

"What do you mean?" I inquired. "I mean that an excursion will leave here for Venus within the next two or three weeks."

"Impossible!" I exclaimed. "My friend," said The Professor, "nothing is impossible where there is a will to accomplish."

"But how will you make the journey?"

"I have invented and constructed a craft which will take us safely there and bring us back."

"Where is this wonderful ship of space?"

"I will take you to see it before we start. I expect to have all of the equipment completed within the next two weeks, and then I will come and take you out. That is all the information I shall give you at present. But remember your promise; for the present the public must know nothing of this."

One morning about two weeks later he called and invited me to accompany him. We traveled by rail several miles east and landed at a way station among the foot-hills. From there we walked over a mile south and finally came to the scene of his operations, having traveled over an improvised road which had been used for hauling materials from the station.

On our arrival I beheld a most peculiar looking craft. It was neither a dirigible nor an airplane, but appeared to be a combination of both. It was equipped with broad wings like an airplane and beneath were running gears. It was shaped somewhat like a huge fish, and was constructed of heavy aluminum, one hundred feet long and about forty feet wide in the center and girded about with bright steel bands. On either side of the fish-like head was a powerful gasoline engine and propellers that could be operated from within. The interior was divided into compartments. The forward part was a lounging room with sleeping berths at the rear. The sides, ceiling and floor were of heavy glass panels, so that one could see out in all directions and either up or down. In the front part of this room were the controls and an equipment of scientific instruments, while on either side, near the front, were huge gasoline tanks well filled.

In the rear of this compartment, on a floor about four feet higher, which was reached by steps on either side, were two other compartments. In one of these was stored food and water sufficient to supply a half dozen men for a year at least. In the other was a large supply of oxygen and other containers which could be drawn upon at will. Back of these, approached by hallways along either side, was a roomy compartment in which was installed a huge rocket machine with a tube extending out through the rear of the ship and also one extending outward on either side.

The entire structure within was airtight. The only opening was a door near the front through which we had entered by way of a short ladder. It was evident that much of the machinery had been installed before the completion of the outer shell. Along the inner walls back of the forward compartment were conduits containing helium gas.

"Wonderful!" I exclaimed, when we had finished the inspection. "But what assurance have you that this craft will carry you millions of miles through empty space?"

"I have constructed it for that purpose."

"But have you taken into account the unknown obstacles to be overcome, and the perils involved in such an undertaking?"

"The perils and obstacles are not so great as you seem to think. Once out in space, beyond the direct attraction of the earth, we will be traveling through a vacuum where there will be no resistance such as we meet in traveling through the atmosphere and the rate of speed that can be attained would amaze the uninitiated."

"When do you start?"

"We leave here tomorrow evening at nine o'clock. Venus will then be above the horizon. It is now approaching the earth, and in a little less than three months it will be at a point nearest to where the earth is now. We will arrive there at that time, making our journey about thirty five million miles."

"You say we, who does that include?"

"Two scientists—Dr. Swartz and Professor Weldon, also two expert mechanics, Joe Berwick and Everett Linn and yourself."

"Impossible!" I exclaimed. "What—why should I risk my life on such a hazardous expedition?"

"The hazard is all in your mind. I have selected you from among all other scribbles to make a record of the journey, knowing that you have the nerve to go with us, and because you are interested in science."

I was dumfounded at the idea, then suddenly the question flashed through my mind. Why not? Here was an opportunity for adventure extraordinary! It might prove disastrous, yet I had faith in the scientific knowledge and wisdom of my friend Scharwenski; I felt sure that he had carefully considered every eventuality that might occur and had provided means for meeting it. So I decided to accompany the expedition.

(To be continued tomorrow.)

CONSTIPATION BRINGS MANY ILLS

Did you know that constipation often brings despondency? Poisons spread through the system. You lack pep. Headaches become frequent. No wonder you have the "blues."

Yet constipation can be overcome by having sufficient roughage in your diet. A pleasant way to obtain this roughage is through eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

You will enjoy this delicious cereal. And how much better for you than taking habit-forming laxatives.

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN, eaten daily, will relieve and prevent both temporary and recurring constipation.

ALL-BRAN also contains needed iron to build up the blood. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"Oh, well, she'd much rather go shopping than cook!"

POOR BOSS

Little Tommy, who has spent the whole of his young life in London, was visiting his uncle's farm.

One morning he was taken to see the cows milked. Tommy's uncle, who expected to see the little chap overcome with enthusiasm at the sight, was surprised when Tommy sniffed with disgust.

"What's the matter, Tommy?" he asked. "Doesn't all this nice milk make you feel thirsty?"

"Rather not," returned the boy. "You see, in London we were used to getting milk from a nice clean shop and not from a dirty old cow."

MARGARET MURRAY

An anonymous letter, followed by fast police work, solved the murder of Stephen Sweeney, New York gang leader, whose riddled body was found recently by aviators on the Long Island Motor Parkway. At the same time the police rounded up the gang that has held up more than 500 stores in Greater New York. Here the murder and banditry gang with their armament, including knives, and brass knuckles, is shown after

some Harry" McCormick are held for murder of Stephen Sweeney. Schoenhardt admits killing the gang leader, because Sweeney called him a "yellow dog" and hurt his pride. The police net also closed in on Margaret Murray, sister of a member of the bandit gang, who is held as a witness in Sweeney's murder. Pretty Julia Murray, wife of John Murray, realized that the thrill of gang life had lost its savor as she was placed under arrest and confessed to participation in 500 hold-ups.

SPENDING LEGACY INTRIGUES TOWN

Every one in the little Ohio river town of Pomeroy, O., is having fun figuring just which is the wisest way to spend $375,000 willed the community by the late Wyatt G. Plantz, upper right, eccentric banker. He was president of the Pomeroy First City bank, known as the "Bank Without a Name," because he never would permit either a sign or lettering on the windows. To his cashier, Claude E. Giblin, upper left, Plantz left the bank, center, on the corner of the business block, and the property amounting to $100,000. The 74-year-old mayor, C. J. Hess, below, thinks the village indebtedness of $140,406.37 should be paid first, then the remainder invested in a water works system.

Here are five of America's outstanding speed skaters as they appeared after qualifying in the first tryouts for the United States Olympic Skating Team,

skaters raced under the European system of two men racing as pairs in each heat instead of the American style of one man for each heat.

Y. P. C. U. Officials To Plan For Events

Important Meeting Of Executive Committee Of Young Peoples Union On Wednesday

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 13.—An important meeting of the officials of the Young People's Christian Union of the United Presbyterian church takes place Wednesday evening at the close of the prayer meeting. This meeting is for the purpose of making plans for Young People's Day, January 25, and for Young People's Week, which will open on January 26 and extend to February 1. According to suggestions from the national young people's headquarters, the local young people may assume duties of church officials for the week, such as the session, board of trustees and officers, and will conduct several of the church services.

Quite a number of other important matters will be taken up at this time so that 100 per cent attendance is urged for the meeting.

Bell Memorial Church Program

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 13.—Last night members of class one, concluded a monthly meeting at the parsonage. Routine business was transacted and the meeting concluded with the serving of light refreshments by Mrs. King.

Wednesday night choir practice at 8:15 in the church.

At noon Wednesday, Rev. John King, Dr. S. A. Kirkbridge, Rev. A. M. Steven, Jr., Charles Bell and Rev. Paul Elliott will attend a luncheon meeting of the Program and Field Activities Committees of the Presbyterian at the Fountain Inn, in New Castle.

Evangelist Here At Tabernacle

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 13.—Mrs. Milton Scripture, evangelist, will speak at the tabernacle on Beaver avenue this evening. The service opens at 7:45 o'clock. Mrs. Scripture has been particularly successful in her work with young people and has just concluded a most successful series of talks to the young people of the Hoover Heights Gospel tabernacle in New Castle.

In the party will be a quartet of young girls whose part in the program will be to bring messages in song. There will also be several instrumental selections.

Slippery Rock Church Program

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 13.—Activities this week in the Slippery Rock church are announced as follows: Wednesday all day, members of the Women's Missionary society will meet in the church. Mrs. William Welhausen will have charge of devotions, Mrs. John Wehman the query corner and members of the work committee will be Mesdames William Price, William Weingartner, Howard Jones and Lawrence Raberman.

Mrs. Dave Evans Entertains Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 13.—Dave Evans of Crescent avenue entertained the members of the Monday Evening Bridge club last night. Special guests were Mrs. Hagers and Mrs. McClymonds and Miss Gert-rude Hill.

Three tables were in play. At the conclusion of a pleasant evening score honors went to Mrs. J. D. Kirk, Mrs. Ford Zeigler and Mrs. Howard Wilson. In two weeks Mrs. J. W. Humphrey of Spring avenue will entertain the club.

Mrs. R. L. Perkins Entertains Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 13.—Mrs. R. L. Perkins of Wood street entertained the members of the Roma club Monday evening at her home.

Two tables were in play and a special guest present was Mrs. Arthur Grandey. At the conclusion of a series of pleasant games, the score honors went to Mrs. Frank Huffman and Mrs. Grandey. Later the hostess served delicious refreshments concluding the meeting. In two weeks Mrs. Jack Beagle will entertain the club.

MISSIONARY MEETING

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 13.—There will be a meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the North Sewickley church Wednesday all day at the home of Mrs. Flinner in North Sewickley. The session opens with quilting at 10 a. m., a tureen dinner at noon and the missionary meeting in the afternoon.

MISSION STUDY CLASS
ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 13.—Members of the Mission Study class of the First Presbyterian church will enjoy a weekly meeting Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 in the church parlors.

Hostesses Have Pretty Party For The Dorcas Class

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 13.—Twenty-five members of the Dorcas class of the First Baptist church enjoyed a social meeting Monday night in the new Sunday school room in the parsonage. Mrs. Frank Conway and Mrs. Paul Conner were hostesses and the setting for the early part of the evening was in the new class room. This room has been newly-decorated in rose and ivory furnishings, with the ivory lively furniture and rose tapestry cushions. The hangings and lamps are in the same pretty shades. During the business meeting the class decided to dispense with showers during the next year.

Officers were elected for the coming year as follows: President, Mrs. Irene Cogley; vice president, Mrs. John Boles; secretary, Mrs. Sara Shaffer and treasurer, Miss Mary Elizabeth Turner. In charge of Missionary work, Mrs. Anna Shellenberger.

The class then adjourned to the dining room for a delicious luncheon served at long tables decorated in pink and white. The rosy tapers glowed in crystal holders, and the same color scheme was carried out in flowers and minor decorations. Two special guests were present, Mrs. Davis Jones and Miss Margaret Schott.

Jewish Council Has Fine Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 13.—The regular meeting of the Council of Jewish women took place Monday night at the home of Mrs. Max Rinehart of this city.

A business session was held and many routine matters were decided. At the close of the business meeting, Mrs. Catherine Charles, City Librarian, read an interesting book review. Miss Miriam Johnson, local pianist, contributed a group of lovely piano selections.

The meeting concluded with a social period and the serving of delicious refreshments.

Report "Object" Falls In Ocean

Scour Vicinity Of Small Azores Island For Missing Atlantic Fliers

(International News Service)
HORTA, Island Of Fayal, Azores, Jan. 13.—An object, said to resemble an airplane, seen to fall into the sea about 20 miles off the Island of San Miguel, The Azores, today spurred to renewed activity search for traces of the seaplane, the engine of which Mrs. Beryl Hart and Lieutenant William S. MacLaren were lost between Bermuda and Azores on the way to Paris.

According to information received here by radio the "object" was sighted by fishermen on the Island of San Miguel. On the basis of this information, the radio station on the island immediately broadcast word to all ships in the vicinity to search near the spot where the "object" was reported seen.

A British warship is said to be in the vicinity. No word has been received of any sighting.

Snappy banjo numbers by two Hollywood entertainers, Jerry Martell and Charles Dixon, also Lions, featured, in addition to the pep singing led by W. O. "Red" Williams.

Miner Held In Fatal Shooting

(International News Service)
GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 13.—State police today held Thomas Bometrudich, 50, a miner of Torrancia, in connection with the fatal shooting of Frank Dudeck, alias Frank Silo, 50, whose bullet riddled body was found late last night in the wooden shanty where he lived.

The two men lived in adjoining shanties at the miners' settlement at Torrancia, police said. They also reported finding a 32 calibre revolver with one shell discharged on Bometrudich's person.

It was stated at the state police barracks here that Bometrudich was being held as a suspect. Police are now engaged in attempting to establish a motive for the shooting.

Man Falls Down
Hillside; Loses
Pep Invigorator

Injuries Are Slight But Loss Of Much Liquor Is Quite Evident To Police

SOS signal was received by the police late Monday afternoon, when Joseph Kosjoko, loaded internally and externally with liquid refreshments of the usual invigorating character found these days, unable to navigate properly fell instead of walking down the hillside of the Croton district adjacent to the old coke ovens and opposite the Neshannock Narrows.

His fall was noted and it was really anticipated that there would be nothing left but the pieces. However, when Chief C. C. Horner, who answered the call in his own machine, reached the landing place of Kosjoko, which was a considerable number of feet from his starting point in his flight down the hillside, his injuries were found to consist principally of a saturated condition of the stomach and his clothing.

He had a bottle of liquor when he started on his tumble down the hillside and enroute down, the cork was knocked out and the contents saturated his clothing as he was enroute down, causing him to become quite fragrant. The bottle was empty.

He was removed to the police station and when he had recovered from the effects of the liquor that he had imbibed, he was discharged.

Pay Of Consuls Is Held Too Low

Comparison Shows Pay Of Ministers And Consuls
Under Those Of Other Nations

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—American ministers and consuls receive less pay than those of other leading nations it was disclosed in the house committee's hearings on the State Department's appropriation bill.

For instance, Wilbur J. Carr, Assistant Secretary of State, explained the Japanese Minister to Canada receives $32,000 for salary and expenses while the American Minister to Canada is allowed only $15,000. The German Consul-General at New York receives $15,500 while the American Consul-General at Berlin receives only $10,550, he said.

"The American ministers and consuls are far less well provided for than the representatives of Germany, Great Britain, Italy, Turkey, Rumania, and probably Poland and France," Carr remarked.

Auto Dealers To Meet On Show

Definite decision as to whether an automobile show will be held in New Castle this year is expected to be made at a meeting of the members of the New Castle Automobile Dealers association in the Elks club Thursday noon.

The matter was discussed at some length at their monthly meeting last week, and a majority of the members present expressed themselves favorably on the proposition.

OLD ACTOR DIES ON MONDAY NIGHT

A man who had seen it all died last night. The curtain was drawn shortly after nine o'clock over a life of glamour and adventure, of struggle and accomplishment, of joy and sorrow.

The aristocratic Henry Belmar, veteran Shakespearean stage performer, will be missed in New Castle. Since the conclusion of his stage career, years ago, Belmar has called New Castle his home. He lived quietly, played the game to the end, a true showman, but always waiting for the event that occurred last night at the Jameson Memorial hospital.

With the passing of Henry Belmar a link coupling the stage world of today and the stage world of a half century ago disappears in the minds of all local people who knew the real old gentleman. Sixty years of his life was spent behind the footlights, in the make-believe world of the stage. He played many leads and in his day was renowned as a tragedian of rare ability. He put realism, thought, intelligence, work and art in every part he ever played, for the simple reason that he wanted to show himself what he could do.

He directed and produced both plays and motion picture dramas, and traveled many times from coast to coast, with some of the best companies of the nation. He wrote and produced a number of plays in New York City, wrote a book, built a motion picture studio in 1911 and directed a large number of feature pictures.

He married Laurel Love, who played feature roles in a number of the pictures that he directed. Henry Belmar had been associated with E. H. Southern and a large number of the most eminent players and producers of his day.

Several years ago he broke down in health, abandoned everything to do with stage and pictures and lived waiting for the inevitable end. He and his wife came to New Castle. During his stay at a local hotel here he made many friends. He rarely spoke of his stage career. He once said, "That is all the past. This is the present." But he often thought of his life behind the footlights and there was undoubtedly a yearning.

The curtain was drawn last night, and the 32 interesting years were concluded.

2. General Von Steuben—His Early Military Service

YOUNG FREDERICK VON STEUBEN SERVED HIS APPRENTICESHIP AS A SOLDIER WITH HIS FATHER'S PRUSSIAN REGIMENT IN THE WAR OF THE AUSTRIAN SUCCESSION, BRAVING THE HARDSHIPS AND DANGERS OF A HARD-FIGHTED CAMPAIGN LIKE A SEASONED VETERAN.

HE UNDERWENT HIS "BAPTISM OF FIRE" IN THE THICK OF THE FIGHTING AT THE LONG AND BLOODY SIEGE OF PRAGUE, - A NEVER-TO-BE-FORGOTTEN EXPERIENCE FOR A LAD OF FOURTEEN. (Copyright, 1930, by J. Carroll Mansfield)

WHEN THE WAR WAS OVER THE YOUNG SOLDIER BEGAN TRAINING TO BECOME A COMMISSIONED OFFICER. SO THOROUGH WAS THE TRAINING IN THE PRUSSIAN ARMY AT THAT TIME THAT VON STEUBEN HAD TO SERVE SEVEN YEARS AS A CADET.

IN 1755 VON STEUBEN AT 25 WAS MADE A LIEUTENANT OF GRENADIERS. HIS QUALITIES OF LEADERSHIP, PARTICULARLY HIS STRIKING ABILITY AS A DRILLMASTER, QUICKLY BROUGHT HIM TO THE ATTENTION OF HIS SUPERIORS.

Phil Tobias To Get Good "Tips"

Bob Levy, Second For Siki And Loughran To Handle Brooklyn Boy

BENEFIT BOUT GAINS IMPETUS

Boxing is a sport in which muscle and brain coordinate and if there is a lack of either, someone suffers, not perhaps physically but financially as the loss of decision or defeat by a knockout costs them thousands in salary for future bouts. In these days of boxing no promoter wants a loser and a defeat always proves a financial setback, hence the desire of boxers to win the "nod" as the decision is called nowadays. And in connection with this, let it be explained that there is an old saying that everything being equal between the performers, "most" bouts are lost to the corner. By this it is meant that boxers may have every qualification to win but without the easily defeated because a boxer trusts implicitly the words of advice he receives. In fact he must place himself under the will of his chief adviser.

Having "milled" in many important contests, Phil Tobias has decided to guard against poor handling and when he steps out to battle Willie Davies in the feature role of the major's relief committee benefit bout next Monday night, at Castle Bowl, he will have as his chief second, none other than Bob Levy, one of the smartest handlers of the east and the little Brooklynite can rest assured, he believes that he will get expert advice.

Levy is the gentleman who managed the late Battling Siki, the big Senegalese who was a playboy of the light-heavy weight division. Not being accustomed to our ways, everything was a joke to the fighting Senegalese who whopped Carpenter, McTigue and came to America only to be shot down in Harlem. To Siki, a Senegalese, Mr. Levy was always his benefactor and a man who could draw from him his big fight-lighting merits.

Helped Tommy Loughran Levy was also one of the chief advisers for Tommy Loughran when the Philadelphia fought his most important battles so it is no strange oddity that Tobias chose the veteran to assure control over him when he steps out against Davies in the feature benefit fund bout. Levy understands Tobias' every move, knows how to draw the best from him and he can be said without question that everytime Tobias has fought with Levy in his corner he has staged a great bout.

Jim Buchanan, Charleroi, will be the chief second for Davies. He has managed Davies ever since the Charleroi atom drew on a professional's glove. He is a quick thinker as he proved last night Davies fought Johnny McCoy Willie had on no boxing shoes and the soles were slippery, so Buchanan made Davies remove his shoes and he finished the fight in his "stocking feet." This prevented Willie from "skidding" like an auto on an icy hill.

The entire town is talking about the fight and it looks very much as though there'd be few meetings of any kind any place. In fact almost every person one talks with is preparing to attend the fight. Reservations have been made by the city's foremost in all walks of life and the show will be graced by a tremendous number of women. It would be safe to bet a dollar to a doughnut that everyone of them will see a spectacle that they'll like.

It is nothing strange for thousands of women to attend boxing bouts in big cities. When Dempsey ceived a big elevation and in this city as in many others it is conducted under state supervision, every person is licensed by the commonwealth and nothing is permitted to occur.

Police, Firemen Present Chief of police Cyrus Horner will have a delegation of police to aid in the ushering at the bowl. State Henechek and his squad in uniform will also be present to aid the big throng. Fire Chief Lynn has arranged to have a squad of his men present and with the courteous ushers and officials at the bowl the fans can look forward to a big night in listiana and as a result of a crowd, which may overflow the bowl, the benefit fund will be helped.

Four Fast Games Played In Church League At Y. M. C. A. Floor On Monday Night

The New Castle Church League produced some fine basketball games last night at the Y. M. C. A. floor. The Wampum Presbyterians upset the dope by beating the First M. E. team in a hot and close battle 20 to 18, with Sid Lockey and White the big scorers of the game. The Wampum team won the game at the foul line.

The Finnish Lutherans beat the Third U. P. in a fine game 18 to 15. Ruha and McClymonds led the scoring.

The Central Christians defeated the Wesley M. E. team 25 to 17, with Vago, Nohol and Shiek the stars. The St. John's team administered a 43 to 6 defeat to the Second U. P. team, with Eagleson, Prack and Blaha the big guns for the victors.

Gersons To Open Youngstown League

The Gerson Jewelers basketball team will open the Jewish league at Youngstown, Ohio, on Wednesday night by meeting their old time rivals, the B. M. D. club.

The Gerson-B. M. D. games last year broke all attendance records and it is likely that this will be the order for this season also. The games are played in the Anshe Emeth Temple. The other game on the card is the Sharon Sols vs. the Bel Dels of Youngstown.

Coach Ray Nolte will likely take a full squad of ten men to Youngstown for the game. With the return of Eph Solomon to the Gerson fold things are expected to pick up as Solomon was one of the leading scorers last year, and is a fine running mate for "Sack" Levin, the tall and very fine center of the Jewish team.

A hard workout is scheduled for the Gersons tonight at the Y. M. C. A. in order to brush up a bit on the offense and defense. A victory over the strong B. M. D. club is desired.

Moderns really are smarter. Leaders could pacify old-timers by saying the trouble was Providential but moderns must be told it's a cycle.

Titan Roster Complete For Waynesburg Tilt Wednesday

All Members Of Squad In Shape For Conference Game

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 13.—With all members of the squad available for the first time this season, Coach "Pop" Harrison's Westminster Titans are waiting for the starting whistle of the first Tri-State conference game here tomorrow night when the Waynesburg Yellowjackets invade the Titan stronghold.

Fresh from victories over Penn State and Juniata, the Yellowjackets will present as formidable a team as Waynesburg has had on the court in several seasons. With the Titans unconsciously thinking of the game with Dick Baker's great Allegheny team here Saturday night, the Jackets are apt to find the Westminster team a bit off in its offensive play.

Considine, Newton, and Hamas, three forwards who were out with injuries and sickness, have returned, thus giving Harrison six forwards. The other offensive threats are Siljaner, Kocher and Douglass. Three six-foot centers are available in Brownlee, Arthur, and Williams. Guards of ability include Captain Rice, Fisher and Blamer. With this array of 12 men and with Bloker, Patterson, Smalley and Kennedy in reserve, Harrison has a good squad to work with but one which must get over the ragged playing which it has exhibited in the last three games.

East Brook Five Defeats Washington

Washington Junior High Team Loses On Monday Afternoon By 25-14 Score

(International News Service) HANOVER, N. H., Jan. 13.—Dartmouth is today perched on top of the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball league alongside of Yale.

By virtue of a 29 to 27 victory at the expense of the Yale cagers last night, Dartmouth moved up into a tie with the Elms with two victories and one setback.

Columbia is now runnerup to the pair.

Yale lost the game in the last minutes of play when Picken got over the winning goal.

The first half was close and hard fought, with the East Brook five leading by an 8-7 score. In the second half the winners piled up an 11 point lead as the contest ended.

For East Brook, Krause and Bedka were the outstanding performers while Hnat, Ridley and Reiber were the only "ashingtonites" able to score.

The lineup follows:
East Brook 25 G. Washington 14
Rung.....F..... Batley
Bridka.....F..... Hnat
Krause.....C..... Brownstein
McMillan.....G..... Ridley
Schuller.....G..... Reiber
Substitutes: East Brook, none; Washington, Leight, Huffner, Pratt, Huff, Matthews.

Ed Dudley Wins Pro Golf Title

Wilmington, Del., Golfer Captures Los Angeles Open Tournament

(International News Service) LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 13.—Sound golf plus a favor from Lady Luck today had enabled Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del., professional to win the Los Angeles $10,000 open golf championship at the Wilshire Country club course. Dudley's share of the purse was $3,500.

Dudley outlasted the brilliant field of golfers by shooting a 72 on the morning round and a dazzling 68 on the final round in the afternoon, which added to his 72 on Saturday and his 73 on Sunday gave him a total of 285 strokes.

Two strokes behind Dudley were Al Espinosa and Eddie Loos, Chicago professionals, who split second and third money.

Wrestling Matches Included With Two Basketball Games

Visiting Teams To Play Locals At "Y", Three Mat Engagements Will Feature

The Y. M. C. A. Varsity Wrestling Club is preparing for its first public matches Wednesday evening when members will wrestle between basketball games on the Y. M. C. A. floor.

The first game will start at 7:30 p. m. between the Warren, Ohio, champs of the church league in that city and the Finnish Lutherans of New Castle. The Youngstown Evergreens, league champions of Youngstown will play next against the Central Christians, New Castle league champions for the past three years.

The wrestling matches will be divided as follows: two at 125 pounds, and one at 135 pounds. Members of the recently organized wrestling organization which is headed by Nick George will take part in the mat work.

Marcella Passers Trim Coaltown, 61-21

Marcella basketball team won its 11th victory of the season on Monday night on the Coaltown floor when the South Siders handed Coaltown a defeat by a 61-21 score.

The Marcella boys secured an early lead and kept it throughout. Yanks' Marcella was the "big shot" or the winners, finding the nets for 3 field goals and played a good defensive game. E. Genock and Russo scored five goals from the field.

On Wednesday the Marcellas play the Sacred Hearts and Bessemer Boosters on the Savoy floor. Blews and Donaldson featured for the losers.

The lineups follow:
Marcella..... Coaltown
E. Genock.....F..... Blews
C. Richards.....F..... Brooks
Y. Marcella.....C..... Downing
F. Marcella.....G..... Donaldson
Russo.....G..... Miller
Substitutes—Marcella, Marino, Maiella, DiThomas, T. Richards, Diano.

New Castle High Passers Prepare For Evans City

Next Contest For Undeclared High Team To Be Played On Friday Night

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh of the New Castle high school sent his undefeated basketball team through a hard scrimmage on Monday afternoon on the Senior high floor in preparation for Friday night when the local five meets Evans City high in the third sectional battle of the W. P. I. A. L. league.

On Saturday evening the New Castle quintet travels to Wilkinsburg, where they will meet Wilkinsburg high in a non-league contest. Evans City boasts of a fair team this season and perils giving the high school cagers plenty in the way of opposition. The game will start at 8:00 o'clock.

I.W.W. Indies Defeat Carnegie Five, 22-19

On Monday evening the Carnegie basketball team received its first defeat of the season when the I. W. W. Indies handed the recreational center representatives a 22-19 defeat in one of the best games seen this year on the Carnegie floor.

For the winners, Fruit and Smith featured while Campbell, Ross and LaRocco were the best for the losers.

On Wednesday the Carnegie Five meets the Albi Club.

The summary:
I. W. W. Indies..... Carnegie
Fruit.....F..... Gallagher
Smith.....F..... Paine
Adams.....C..... LaRocco
Janwick.....G..... Ross
Kudupski.....G..... J. Gallagher
Subs—George
Goals, Fruit 4, Smith 2, Adams 1, George 3, and Campbell 2.

Slattery Favored To Beat Levinsky

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Jimmy Slattery, former world light heavyweight champion, will enter the ring against King Levinsky tomorrow night as a 9 to 5 favorite, it was indicated today.

Last November 6 Slattery gave the Chicago heavyweight a terrific slashing.

WITH TRI-STATE COLLEGE CAGERS

The menu that awaits the Titans of Westminster this week is not the least bit appetizing. Wednesday night the Titans are called on to face the Yellow Jackets of Waynesburg, and on Saturday night the Alligators of Allegheny college. Two very important games I would say. Both teams will give the United Presbyterianians a tussle.

Thiel college will play hosts to the Geneva team tonight. The game will be played at Greenville. The game at Beaver Falls the other night went to Thiel 22 to 21, and the Geneva boys weren't on the long end, and they may take another one on the chin tonight. Anyhow, this Thiel outfit looks awful good this year. Frampton, McCoy, Wardle and Bell help make the Lutherans impressive.

Grove City is entertaining Waynesburg tonight. The Grovers are seeking red after that 24 to 22 setback from the Titans of Westminster, and will play hard to win tonight. Coach Thorn is anything but pleased with the Westminster battle, and when Thorn is mad he generally changes the ball court around. The Grovers have been hard hit by injuries it is understood. The Jackets figure that with a fine team, they may break that Grove City jinx.

Bethany must have something hot in basketball this season. The Bisons have engaged in two warm-up games for the Tri-State and beat Juniata 45 to 14, and turned right around and licked the Penn State boys 41 to 27. Flading, Rush, Telfair and Jenkins are the veterans from last year found on the Bethany lineup. Wash & Jeff and Thiel will be the teams meeting Bethany this week, the Presidents on Wednesday night and the Lutherans on Friday evening.

Plaingrove Defeats Princeton Quintet

Large Crowd Sees Princeton Bow To Plaingrove Passers, 26-19

One of the biggest crowds of the season saw Plaingrove High school's floor team defeat Princeton High on Friday night on the Princeton floor. The final score was 26-19.

An extra five minute period was necessary to decide the winner.

The summary follows:
Plaingrove 26..... Princeton 19
Rogers.....F..... D. Myers
McNulty.....F..... Davidson
Miles.....C..... G. Smith
Thompson.....G..... Lapinsky
McRee.....G..... B. Myers
Substitutions—Princeton, V. Shaler, McQuire, Plaingrove, Masters, Brown, Connell, Grande, Stevenson.
Field goals—Princeton 6, Plaingrove 10.
Fouls—Princeton, 7 out of 9; Plaingrove, 6 out of 17.
Referee—Wallace.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Slightly Lower Price Levels For Stocks Today

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Monday's closing reaction was carried into the first period and most of the active stocks on the big board settled down to slightly lower price level.

The bears singled out for attack a number of the Specialties which have frequently bent under the effects of similar hammering in the past. Vanadium's new dip carried the stock under 50 for a loss of about 2 points.

Industrial reports and statements were practically unchanged, and the stock market was largely in the hands of the professionals, who were inclined to consider the downward move as the path of least resistance in stocks. The Rails gave a better account of themselves, mainly for the reason that offerings of the small Rumbblings of impending cuts in Crude Oil prices once again unsettled the Oil stocks, the standards and independents dropping off to a new low on the more Atlantic Refining lost a point at 20 1/2 and Standard of New Jersey sold lower.

United States Steel broke under 141 for a loss of 1 1/2 as the selling wave extended to the industrial leaders. American Can was down a point, American Tel. and Tel. dropped to 18 1/2 for a loss of 3 points and Western Union also lost a point at 85 1/2. The Coppers and Motors were inactive and steady, with narrow price changes.

Political wrangling at Washington, with increasing danger of an extra hot-weather session, has been one of the unsettling factors in Wall street. Lack of money is no handicap, funds again being available at 1 per cent in the outside market. Grain and Cotton were steady.

Hope Wanes For Flying Couple

William S. MacLaren And Mrs. Beryl Hart, Believed Lost In Atlantic

ARE NOW THREE DAYS OVERDUE

(International News Service)

Horta, Azores, Jan. 13.—A forlorn possibility that the New York to Paris aviators, Mrs. Beryl Hart and William S. MacLaren, landed on a remote island of the Azores or overshoot their mark and continued eastward to the European coast was all the hope that remained today, three days and three nights after they headed out over the tossing Atlantic from Bermuda in the trade-wind.

They hopped off from Hamilton Saturday morning at 11:15 a. m., Eastern Standard Time and were due in the Azores the next morning, but no sign has been seen of them since.

Aviation experts estimated that on the basis of reports from various steamers now on the high seas, which described fast running waves and stiff winds, the tradewind could have stayed on the water less than an hour after being forced down.

Report Plane Falls

New York, Jan. 13.—A report that the airplane Tradewind carrying W. S. MacLaren and Mrs. Beryl Hart on an attempted flight to Paris fell into the sea off the Azores was received today by the Mackay Radio here. The plane has been missing since Saturday.

The following message was received at the Sayville Radio station here from the steamer President Garfield:

"San Miguel Radio Station, Azores, has broadcast the following: 'Understand airplane Tradewind fell in sea about twenty miles off Mos-teiros Point, St. Michael's Island. All ships advised to keep lookout and report to this station if anything seen.'"

The message was signed by the radio station at San Miguel, The Azores.

No information was broadcast as to who had sighted the ship in the sea or when.

Reduce Quotas In Immigration

Are Slashed Approximately Ninety Percent, Stim-son Tells House Committee

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Immigration is being slashed approximately 90 percent by the State department through denial of admission to aliens "likely to become public charges" according to figures submitted to the House Appropriations committee by Secretary of State Stimson and made public today.

The order to refuse admission to aliens who might become public charges was issued by President Hoover as an unemployment relief measure.

The State department report showed:

In October the maximum general quota immigration, mostly from Europe, was cut from 14,846 to 1,668, or 87 percent.

Mexican immigration the same month decreased from a normal 3,993 to 236, or 94 percent.

Canadian immigration was cut from 6,127 to 1,622, or 74 percent.

Stimson estimated that during the fiscal year ending June 30, normal immigration from Europe will be cut 135,000.

Squire Reynolds Marries Couple

Former Sheriff Has First Wedding As Union Township Justice Of The Peace

Former Sheriff H. M. Reynolds, who is now justice of the peace in Union Township, performed in a new role yesterday afternoon.

He officiated at his first wedding ceremony.

Under the duties of his office as justice he is permitted to marry couples, and on Monday afternoon the first candidates appeared.

They were Robert Diehl and Miss Cora Livingston, of Akron, Ohio. They had secured a marriage license at the Lawrence County court house earlier in the day.

Squire Reynolds tied the knot and while he may have been a bit amateurish in the performance, he anticipated that the young couple is officially married, he says.

Past Masters Have Meeting

The past masters of Alma Lodge F. and M. No. 63 met at the residence of Dr. James A. Gillespie, of 324 East Lutton street, last evening, for their annual dinner. The following members were present: Archie A. Allmon, Raymond J. Williams, Jesse L. Gardner, Alex Williams, Wallace Anderson, Benjamin O. Weber, J. William Walls, James O. Davis, Charles E. Taylor, Roy Tanner and Dr. James A. Gillespie.

President of the club is R. J. Williams; vice president, John F. Williams; secretary, J. H. Gardner. The club will be entertained next year by Alex Williams, at which time the wives will be invited.

Discovers Man In Car Quite Severely Hurt

Man Didn't Seem Able To Give Information Concerning Injuries

Officer Carl Wallace on making his rounds on South Beaver street, near Washington street, about 6:30 o'clock this morning, found E. J. Ortmann, 412 Leasure avenue, seated in his car, his head severely injured, a remote island of the Azores or overshoot their mark and continued eastward to the European coast was all the hope that remained today, three days and three nights after they headed out over the tossing Atlantic from Bermuda in the trade-wind.

The police station was notified and Officers Lockard and Dukes removed the man to the police station, where a physician was called to dress his injuries.

Ortmann was apparently unable to give much information as how his injuries occurred. He was discharged on payment of $10 for the services of the physician.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13.—The Rev. Amos J. Traver, of Philadelphia, for the past five years general secretary of the Luther League of America, the young people's organization of the United Lutheran church of America, resigned his post today effective March 1. At that time he will become pastor of the Lutheran church at Frederick, Md.

The resignation was tendered to the executive committee of the organization today at their mid-winter meeting here. It was accepted reluctantly by the members expressing their regret at Rev. Traver's decision. No successor was decided upon today, but the post is expected to be filled by March 1.

Rev. Traver is a native of New York and a graduate of Wittenburg College and the Hartwick Theological seminary.

The committee today also adopted a budget of $22,000 for the year of 1931 and completed arrangements for the Bi-annual National Convention of the Luther League at Reading, Pa., July 2-6. Approval also was given to the construction of an educational building in Porto Rico at a cost of $25,000.

Boy Injured In Crossing Street

Police Hear Of A Number Of Automobile Accidents On City Streets

Mrs. Virginia Capicola reported to the police Monday that her son Willie, aged 9, in crossing from the west to the east side of North Mill street near Washington street, with a number of other boys and girls, was struck by a machine, the license number of which was not secured, and knocked to the pavement. He got up himself. The driver of the car got out and then got into his machine again without inquiring of the boy as to his name, injuries or anything else. The boy sustained injuries of the head and left side.

James L. Beebe of 518 West North street reported Monday that he was enroute west on East Washington street at the north side of the public square, on the green light, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 73958 enroute north on Jefferson street ran into and damaged his car.

A H. Robb reported to the police Monday that he had a truck of the Jewell Tea Company parked on Oak street, while he was making a delivery, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 754C parked behind his machine ran into and damaged his truck, when the brakes released.

William Hofer, R. D. No. 2, reported Monday that he was enroute south on South Jefferson street near Market Alley, when his machine sideswiped the ingate of a car bearing Pennsylvania license UOH93 which was parked against the curb.

Three Bandits Rob Missouri Bank Of $20,000

(International News Service)

ST. CHARLES, Mo., Jan. 13.—Three bandits executed a well planned holdup of the Union Savings bank of this city today and escaped with $20,000 and $25,000 in currency and silver.

Two of the bandits overpowered the negro janitor, Sylvester Dryden, when the latter appeared for work early this morning to fire the furnace. The third member of the trio remained at the wheel of a large Studebaker car with the engine running.

While one of the bandits held Dryden the second lay in wait for Edward Schnedler, the assistant cashier. When he appeared for work Schnedler was forced to open the vault. The bandits scooped up between $20,000 and $25,000 in silver and currency and escaped, he said.

TEN YEAR OLD BOYS PUT OUT SCHOOL FIRE

Billy Donnan and Bobby McCann, ten year old pupils of the ten year school on the Pulaski road proved themselves heroes Monday afternoon when they extinguished a fire in the school that might have resulted in the loss of the entire building and equipment.

The boys had been sent to the basement by their teacher, Miss Reynolds, to get a bucket of coal for the stove in the school room, and upon arriving in the coal room of the cellar they smelled smoke, which was not from the furnace and upon looking about discovered the rafters above the furnace were on fire. Instead of losing their heads and running away, the boys very heroically found some brooms and beat the fire out before it had gotten great headway.

JOINT MEETING HELD

Members of the Tri H Y and Hi Y of the New Wilmington high school held a joint meeting in the school building last night. The attendance of both clubs was nearly 100 percent and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all. Prof. William Hamilton entertained the meeting with several musical

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 13.—Orders and contracts for the coming year totaling more than $15,000,000 today were expected to be placed with manufacturers of glass and pottery products as a result of buying opportunities presented at the Associated Glass and Pottery Manufacturers Exposition now being conducted here.

According to officials of the association, about 85 per cent of the orders will be placed with firms operating in Pittsburgh and western Pennsylvania.

More than 220 display rooms in the two hotels are filled with samples of the exhibition, the 51st of the organization and the only event of its kind held in the United States. The exhibition will be on display until January 24. Only buyers are permitted to attend and the general public is excluded. Four hundred salesmen are in attendance.

Many New Designs

Several of the newest creations in glassware and pottery are being exhibited for the first time. One of the newest developments in glassware, a sand-blown design in vases, was shown to members of the association yesterday.

New officers of the Associated Glass and Pottery Manufacturers were to be inducted at a banquet meeting of the organization scheduled January 22. Charles H. West of Pittsburgh will become president. Other officers include D. H. Cushman of Bellaire, O., vice president; G. S. Brush, Zanesville, O., treasurer; C. L. Sebring of Sebring, O., secretary; and O. J. M. Hammer of Pittsburgh, assistant secretary and exposition director.

Members of the Western Glass and Pottery Association will meet next Wednesday, when officers are to be inducted. V. D. Kinnaman of East Liverpool, O., will become president and F. A. Lang of Cambridge Springs secretary-treasurer. New directors include J. M. Hammer and R. G. West of Pittsburgh and Rudolph J. Herman, laborer, Eighth ward.

JURORS EXCUSED FROM ATTENDANCE

Four jurors were excused from attendance at court this week. They were Charles Baird, plumber, Ellwood City; H. J. Dean, merchant, Slippery Rock; Samuel D. Gibson, foreman, North Beaver, and Rudolph J. Herman, laborer, Eighth ward.

How unfortunate that the only ones who know how to improve our minds are such darned dull writers.

Figures compiled by the game commission show that over 22,000 deer were killed in the Pennsylvania woods last fall. In addition hundreds of deer have been found dead, due to malnutrition. Twenty-five years ago deer were in danger of extermination. Today they are as thick as cows in the mountain counties.

From the advance information the boxing match next Monday night is going to be a rather snooty affair. They do say as how the announcer will be in evening clothes, and girls, you must come over.

A few more days of weather like this and Rex Patch will be on his way South. The cold breezes don't agree with Rex and any day now is likely to bring forth the announcement that he is southward bound.

One friend of this column has never been to Florida. In the summer it's nice enough up here and he doesn't want to go. When business is good in the winter he hasn't time to go, and when business isn't good, he can't afford to go.

One way of getting attention these days is to write to some of the organizations in the scenery belt for a descriptive folder. You may have no idea of going, just curious to see the pictures, but in the weeks following your letter you will get plenty of attention.

Railroads running into the district write you describing the luxury of their through trains. Chambers of Commerce write you, telling of the possibilities of investment. Hotels write you, describing the completeness of their hostelrys, the excellence of their cuisine and seven other reasons why you should stop there.

Your request for an illustrated booklet is taken to mean that you are already packing for the trip, and the boys want to get you before you actually buy your ticket.

Family Night Splendid Success

Evangelistic Services At Third
United Presbyterian Church
Begin With Vim

If the opening service is an indication of the success of the evangelistic meetings being held in the Third United Presbyterian church, Rev. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the church, is assured that this annual event will go over big.

Monday night was observed as "family" night and many were the families that were out 100 per cent. Mrs. Amos Zeigler was awarded a prize for having the largest family of sons, daughters, in-laws and grandchildren present and the prize for the immediate family was awarded A. Jay.

A rousing praise service opened the meeting, with David West in charge as song leader and the voices of the large congregation filled the auditorium as they were raised in praise of Him they came to worship. A chorus choir sang an inspiring anthem and just before the speaker of the evening took his place the quartet most beautifully sang "Home, Sweet Home".

Dr. J. Alvin Orr, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of Northside, Pittsburgh, is the guest speaker this week and he presented a most fitting sermon on "The Christian Home".

He stressed the responsibility of the parents in making the right kind of a home for bringing up their family, and said that good homes were necessary in making a good nation, and it was in the home that the best deeds of after years were born and nourished.

He also stressed the importance of the responsibility of the children, saying that a parent must do his or her part, but in turn the boys and girls must shoulder their responsibilities also.

Dr. Orr will speak on "A Real Come-Across" this evening; Wednesday his subject will be "Selling a Birthright for Potage"; Thursday, "The Two Roads"; and Friday his closing sermon will be "Able to Save to the Uttermost".

The best explanation of Will Rogers' work in "Lightnin'" is that he is in training to do Little Lord Fauntleroy.

Tourists Homes Not Sponsored By State

Commonwealth Of Pennsylvania Does Not Bestow Official Recognition

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.—The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does not bestow official benisons upon tourist lodging houses, camps, restaurants or hotel "chalets" together by shrewd salesmen. This statement was made today by Benjamin C. Eynon, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

"For instance," said Eynon, "the word 'State' used in connection with a chain of lodging houses does not mean that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has gone into the room-renting business, nor that it has approved the structure bearing the painted bulletin. In my travels through Pennsylvania recently I have observed signs which may mean to the uninitiated that the State government has given certain places an official blessing, which it withholds from establishments not displaying the sign. That is not so. The Commonwealth's interest in these and all other places is confined to their observance of the law."

"Unfortunately for the motoring public, which oftentimes is rather glib, slick salesmen prevail upon individuals to pay sums of money for the sometimes doubtful privilege of 'belonging' to chains or associations, or to fly-by-night motoring organizations. The object of these salesmen is not to benefit the traveling public, nor their 'joiners' but to collect membership fees, and when the fees are safely pocketed their interest wanes with marvelous rapidity. The fact that a rooming or lodging house bears an official looking placard or bulletin means nothing at all in the majority of instances—except that a salesman who passed that way pocketed a fee."

Plan Unique Lights For 'Frisco Bridge

Each Of Towers Will Be 740 Feet High, Visible Many Miles

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 13.—A lighting system devised for the mammoth Golden Gate bridge will make San Francisco harbor distinguished from any other world port.

The bridge is yet to be completed.

Each of the towers will be 740 feet in height, making the beacons visible many miles to seaward. Along each of the large suspension cables will be strings of electric lights, while the plazas, portal structures and towers will be equipped with brilliant flood lights.

It is planned also to extend a row of two-light electrolights along the full length of the bridge.

Treser Announces Thursday Schedule

Men To Report On Two Jobs;
Some Unmarried Men To Get Jobs

Councilman Stanley Treser today announced at city hall that he has assigned men from the registered unemployed to work Thursday at Meyer avenue and The Narrows. Work will start at 8 o'clock but men are to report at 7:45 a. m.

Here's the schedule the men are to follow:

Men who receive yellow tags and numbers 1001 to 1100, inclusive, report at The Narrows and men who receive numbers 101 to 130, inclusive and yellow tags report at Meyer avenue.

Treser also said: "Due to the progress made on the Meyer avenue sewer job we find that it is necessary to call only 30 men instead of the usual 100 at this time."

"Men having received tags to go to work and who have not up to the present time reported for work makes us assume that they do not want the work and have therefore declared their numbers void."

There are a number of unmarried men who have registered and up to this time have not received employment and it is our purpose to give these cancelled numbers to those persons."
